All At Sea The Uks Nuclear Submarines:

Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, 1987-09 The future of the UK's strategic nuclear deterrent Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Defence Committee, 2007-03-07 The Government white paper Cm 6994 ISBN 9780101699426 recommended the renewal of the Trident system and wanted a decision made in 2007 as delay would imperil the UK's security This report analyses the white paper's findings and conclusions and explores the key issues and questions which should be addressed in the debate on the future of the deterrent The Committee reports some disagreement with the Government's timetable for procurement of new submarines The reduction in the total number of warheads is welcomed but as the number deployed on submarines is not to change the Committee is uncertain of the operational significance of this measure The Committee would also like clarification of the nature and geographical scope of what the Government considers the UK's vital interests for which the nuclear deterrent exists There appears to be no legal consensus that the proposals are consistent with all of the UK's international obligations in particular the Nuclear Non proliferation Treaty so political considerations will govern the renewal decision Detailed estimates of the costs are vital to inform the debate The Committee acknowledges the Government's efforts at openness on this matter Hearings Before and Special Reports Made by Committee on Armed Services of the House of Representatives on Subjects Affecting the Naval and Military Establishments, 1994 Naval Strategy, 1985 House of Commons - Scottish Affairs Committee: The Referendum on Separation for Scotland, Session 2013-14 - HC 140-I Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Scottish Affairs Committee, 2013-10-07 Incorporating HC 139 xv HC 139 xx session 2012 13 and follows on from HC 139 II session 2012 13 ISBN 9780215052551 For related report see HCP 542 ISBN 9780215047489 Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, 1987-09 Uncrewed Vessels and International Law Haiwen Zhang, Yao Huang, Lijuan Xing, 2024-07-01 This policy oriented jurisprudence presents the latest research findings on legal challenges faced by the international regulatory framework as posed by the increasing deployment of uncrewed vessels at sea It is the first publication that offers discussions and opinions reflecting a combined international and comparative especially eastern perspective The contributors from multiple jurisdictions elaborate on legal implications of the use of uncrewed vessels for military commercial scientific research and law enforcement purposes from such diverse angles as the law of the sea international humanitarian law the law of war global shipping regulation marine environment protection cybersecurity and artificial intelligence and law Women in Combat United States. Congress. House. Committee on Armed Services. Military Forces and Personnel Subcommittee, 1994 Down to the Sea in Submarines Dan Conley, 2024-08-20 This unique memoir charts the career of the author in the Royal Navy Submarine Service during the period 1967 to 1997 and in doing so details many of the Silent Service's remarkable achievements since the end of the Second World War And it provides a dramatic first hand account of the underwater confrontation during the Cold War between submarines of the West and the huge submarine force of the Soviet Union Dan Conley narrates the successive stages from his basic submarine training to taking command of two nuclear attack submarines but he does not demur from describing the personal and professional difficulties he encountered in this journey. He sets out in detail what life was like serving onboard both diesel and nuclear submarines and in particular the book describes the British submariner's remarkable transformation from the somewhat buccaneering free spirit serving on a clapped out WW2 boat during the sunset of the British Empire to the highly professional individual who spends prolonged periods under the sea in a platform which matches the complexity of a space craft. The book describes the long and difficult challenges encountered in developing effective weapon systems for the British submarine force and discusses the difficulties and shortcomings in the UK's defense procurement system a situation which still exists today. Ultimately however Western technological superiority and crew proficiency enabled the submarines of the Royal and United States Navies to match those of the Soviet Union and he describes vividly the suspense and tension of underwater confrontations which might so easily have escalated to another dimension of warfare. And the book sets out hitherto undisclosed details of submarine activities during the 1962 Cuban Missile Crisis when the world confronted the real possibility of a massive nuclear exchange. But it is not all serious content and he also offers a glimpse for the reader of many humorous situations and events of animals that found themselves under the sea in a submarine in one case during a war patrol and other moments of levity that broke the tension of serving in a highly complex and sophisticated fighting machine. The Cold War era is now long past. However it is evident that as the West now confronts an aggressive recidivist Russia and a more aggressive China Britain's submarine force once again will be key to the security of all its citizens. This fine memoir captures vividly the key events and history of the Cold War and in doing so will open the reader's eyes to the significance and importance today of the Royal Navy Submarine Service. Praise for the author's previous work Cold War Command. A wonderful book full of information momentum excitement and humanity. Highly recommended. The Mariner's Mirror

The United Kingdom and Nuclear Deterrence Jeremy Stocker, 2013-05-13

In December 2003 the British government announced that within a few years it would need to take decisions about the future of Britain's strategic nuclear deterrent. Exactly three years later its plans were revealed in a White Paper. The existing Trident system is to be given a life extension which includes building new submarines to carry the missiles costing 15.20 billion. Britain has a substantial nuclear legacy having owned nuclear weapons for over half a century. The strategic context for the deterrent has changed completely with the end of the Cold War but nuclear weapons retain much of their salience. This Adelphi Paper argues that it makes sense to remain a nuclear power in an uncertain and nuclear armed world. Given that deterrence needs are now less acute but more complex than in the past the paper asserts that deterrence also needs to be aligned with non proliferation policies which seek to reduce the scale of threats that need to be deterred. Somewhat overlooked in current policy are appropriate measures of defence which can raise the nuclear threshold and if required mitigate the effects of deterrence failure. It concludes that the government's decisions about the future form of the deterrent are very sensible but cautions that they still need to be integrated into a broader policy that embraces diplomacy deterrence and defence to counter the risks posed by nuclear proliferation UK National Intelligence Services Handbook Volume 1 Strategic Information, Activities and Regulations IBP, Inc.,2016-12-20 2011 Updated Reprint Updated Annually UK National Intelligence Service Handbook Organizational Cultures and the Management of Nuclear Technology Russell Kirk,2017-07-05 Nuclear technology has been an organizing premise of the international system since 1945 Eight countries have officially acknowledged the possession of nuclear weapons Many countries have harnessed the atom for electricity generation and other civilian uses Roughly 440 commercial nuclear reactors operate in thirty countries providing 14 percent of the world s electricity Volatile oil prices and concerns about climate change have led newly emerging economies in Asia to express keen interest in using nuclear energy to meet growing energy demands Since the basic technological apparatus for both civilian and military nuclear programs is the same there are concerns about the potential spread of dual use technology The future stability of the international order depends on the responsible management of their nuclear assets by nuclear powers The relationship between civilian authorities and the military takes on special significance in states with nuclear weapons or near weapon capability The constitutional balance of powers the delegation of authority during wartime and peace influences from public opinion and bureaucratic structures on the formulation of doctrine crisis management and communications with the international media and the general public are influenced by civil military relations and organizational culture This volume will be of broad interest to scholars of civil military relations political science and political sociology The Royal Navy in the Cold War Years, 1966-1990 Edward Hampshire,2025-11-04 During the period covered by this new book the Royal Navy faced some of its greatest challenges both at sea confronting the increasingly capable and impressive Soviet Navy and on shore when it faced policy crises that threatened the survival of much of the fleet During this remarkable period the Navy had rarely been so focussed on a single theater of war the Eastern Atlantic but also rarely so politically vulnerable The author sets out to analyze shadowing operations and confrontations at sea with Soviet ships and submarines the Navy s role in the enormous NATO and Warsaw Pact naval exercises that acted out potential war scenarios individual operations from the Falklands and the 1990 91 Gulf War to the Beira and Armilla patrols the development of advanced naval technologies to counter Soviet capabilities policy making controversies as the three services fought for resources including the controversial 1981 Nott defense review and what life was like in the Cold War navy for ratings and officers The book the first to cover this subject in depth for more than thirty years will make use of the full range of archival sources that have been publicly available over the last two decades but of which little use has been made by historians This work is destined to become a definitive naval history of the period and also provide a fascinating and gripping narrative of a navy under threat from many directions but which survived and eventually prospered winning a remarkable victory in the far South Atlantic more than 7 000 miles from its expected battleground in the North Atlantic Elegantly written for a wide audience it will be a very significant volume for professional and enthusiast alike The Collins Class Submarine Story Peter Yule, Derek Woolner, 2008-06-02 A unique and outstanding military and industrial achievement the Collins class submarine project was also plagued with difficulties and mired in politics Its story is one of heroes and villains grand passions intrigue lies spies and backstabbing It is as well a story of enormous commitment and resolve to achieve what many thought impossible The building of these submarines was Australia's largest most expensive and most controversial military project From initiation in the 1981 2 budget to the delivery of the last submarine in 2003 the total cost was in excess of six billion dollars Over 130 key players were interviewed for this book and the Australian Defence Department allowed access to its classified archives and the Australian Navy archives Vividly illustrated with photographs from the collections of the Royal Australian Navy and ASC Pty Ltd The Collins Class Submarine Story Steel Spies and Spin first published in 2008 is a riveting and accessibly written chronicle of a grand scale quest for excellence The Armed Forces of the United Kingdom, 2014-2015 Charles Heyman, 2014-02-10 This book has been published at regular intervals during the last 20 years and the latest 2014 2015 addition is the one that deals with the most far reaching changes the UK Armed Forces have gone through for a generation Although the UK's Armed Forces Ecosystems: Oceans Trevor Day, 2014-07-10 The oceans are teeming with life of all kinds Changing sea levels plate tectonics chemical cycling sedimentation and the atmosphere greatly impact these habitats The ocean's currents and sea level are tied closely to weather patterns and in turn to such issues as global warming and El Nino Oceans provides a complete overview of the ecosystem that exists in these bodies of water From the coastal wetlands to the deep ocean waters the geography geology chemistry and physics of oceans are thoroughly examined in this volume Today the impact that human use of ocean resources has on these habitats including habitat loss and overharvesting is in constant debate Oceans looks at these possible threats and concludes with a balanced look at the ways to manage the oceans as well as the future of this ecosystem Zirconium in the Nuclear Industry R. Congress, 1979 Global Maritime Military Strategy, 1980-2023 Keitaro Ushirogata, 2025-03-17 This open access book is an ambitious study about how to use comparative methods to analyze contemporary military strategy in the maritime domain Based on the three strategic concepts of area denial sea control and power projection this book analyzes the intensive conventional capabilities of six major powers military strategies These include the United States the United Kingdom and Japan the so called sea powers and Russia China and India which are usually recognized as land powers Through the analysis this book aims to accomplish the following three main objectives 1 To reconsider the basic concepts of maritime military strategic studies which have not changed for almost one hundred years and to propose a new analytical framework based on the following three elements as well as verifying the appropriateness of this framework a The capability with which a country can deny military threat against its territory through the maritime domain within the geographic theater i e roughly one thousand to two thousand kilometers from its coastline area denial b The capability with which a country can obtain military superiority or disrupt an adversary's military superiority in the open ocean sea control c The capability with which a country can project military power from the maritime domain to other countries territories accomplishing military strategic objectives power projection 2 To verify the six major powers long term military strategic objectives for example whether the country aims to enhance its power in the maritime domain or to project its military power to the other countries areas beyond the maritime domain to do this by analyzing each country's force building directions In addition this book assesses each country's capability for high intensive conflict and unravels each security military strategic objectives 3 By examining the strategic objectives of major powers this book may contribute to establishing Japan's future defense strategy Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists ,1987-09
