Key Contested Issues in Criminology and Criminal Justice Anthony Walsh, 2025-09-24 Key Contested Issues in Criminology and Criminal Justice addresses the key issues within criminology and criminal justice that are strongly contested among scholars in the field. Covering 18 different themes, the book identifies the ways in which different issues are contested and demonstrates how biopsychosocial concepts and methods can inform most of them. It is divided into four broad sections. The first section examines philosophical issues such as the value of philosophy in criminology, criminal justice, the role of ideology in our disciplines, and the issues of human nature and free will versus determinism. The second section explains the biopsychosocial perspective that provides the framework used in exploring the various issues. It explores the possibility of integrating the natural sciences with criminology, behavioral and molecular genetics, evolutionary theory, and neuroscience. It also considers issues related to child maltreatment, brain development, and the role of rationality vis-à-vis emotion in decision making. The third section examines crime causation and contains chapters on social learning versus control theories, radical critical theories, the relationship between intelligence and criminal behavior, issues of socioeconomic status (SES), poverty, and crime, and whether religion is a barrier or bridge to antisocial behavior. The final section looks at four issues in criminal justice: the police, abolition, the movement, the nature of punishment, and its justifications by the criminal justice system, and issues in sentencing and the death penalty. Key Contested Issues in Criminology and Criminal Justice will be of value to students and scholars in criminology and criminal justice, as well as to criminal justice practitioners. *Catalog of Copyright Entries. With the help of psychoanalytic theories ranging from Sigmund Freud through André Green and Nicolas Abraham to Jean Laplanche, this study re-evaluates the complexity of Lahiri

s craft and offers major insights into the author's representation of second generation diasporic subjectivity an angle hitherto neglected by critics working from the narrower theoretical boundaries of transnationalism diaspora studies postcolonial theory and Asian American studies alike Via interdisciplinary incursions into the domains of literary and psychoanalytic criticism as well as into those of trauma and diaspora studies Munos takes up Hema and Kaushik the triptych of short stories included in Unaccustomed Earth 2008 as exemplary texts in which Lahiri redefines notions of belonging and arrival regarding the Bengali American second generation not in terms of cultural assimilation which would hardly make sense for characters born in the USA in the first place but in terms of a resymbolization of the gaps in the parents' migrant narratives Munos in depth reading of Lahiri's trilogy is concerned with exploring how Hema and Kaushik signify on the absent presences haunting transgenerational relationships within the US diasporic family of Bengali descent Bringing to the forefront such negative categories as the gap the absent the unsaid the melancholically absented mother After Melancholia reveals that the second generation Mother Diaspora is no less haunting than her first generation counterpart Mother India Calling for a re assessment of Lahiri's work in terms of a dialectical relationship between transgenerational mourning and melancholia Munos provides a compelling reading grid by means of which underrepresented aspects of the rest of Lahiri's work especially her novel The Namesake 2003 gain new visibility Delphine Munos is a F R S FNRS postdoctoral researcher in the Department of English and American Literatures at the University of Liège Belgium She has published in the field of American and postcolonial literature diaspora studies and South Asian studies El-Hi Textbooks and Serials in Print ,2006
