

A Comparative analysis of two ESP research papers: a schema-based approach

Sara Shoghli Javan

Abstract

This paper examines two research papers selected on the basis that they belong to the same genre, i.e. English for Specific Purposes (ESP). Drawing on the underlying principles of genre we assumed that since these papers belong to the same genre they share similar patterns in terms of their constitutive schemata. By means of Schema theory, offered by Khodadady (2008), we assigned the schemata to three domains of semantic, syntactic and parasyntactic. Comparing the two papers with regard to their schema types and tokens, we came to the conclusion that the semantic, syntactic and parasyntactic schemata constituting these papers significantly differ from each other. Moreover, each domain within one paper is statistically different from its counterpart in the other paper. Bearing in mind the fact that statistics cannot reveal the hidden intentions behind a text, we went through the schemata and analyzed each schema with regard to its context of occurrence. Identifying the whole common schemata we looked for the figurative and collocational expressions representative of the genre, however, the results showed that there are few if any kinds of fixed phraseology, metaphorical, idiomatic and collocational frameworks which assert the existence of ESP genre.
