Animals are the Issue Linda S Katz, 2013-10-31 Supply your library with the best collection of resources on animal issues Animals are the Issue Library Resources on Animal Issues is a guide to books journals and Web sites on historic and modern animal treatment Expert librarians and scholars provide helpful resources showing what ideals and practical solutions exist in animal rights and welfare debates With this book students philosophers and politicians can find the best of written and electronic resources about the protection and ethical use of animals by humankind Animals are the Issue stands alone as a source for locating materials on animal protection and welfare This valuable guide will help librarians save time and money in locating diverse areas of information regarding animal consumption and exploitation The authors have noted what they consider to be the most essential resources for library collections This book offers references that discuss the utilization of animals by humans as companions in sports and entertainment in religion in science and education in industry in hunting Animals Are the Issue explores how animals are seen viewed and used by humans With bibliographies annotated lists and short commentaries by the authors on nearly every item you ll be able to supply your patrons with a highly effective animal rights welfare collection

The Animal Ethics Reader Susan Jean Armstrong, Richard George Botzler, 2003 The Animal Ethics Reader is the first comprehensive state of the art anthology of readings on this substantial area of study and interest A subject that regularly captures the headlines the book is designed to appeal to anyone interested in tracing the history of the subject as well as providing a powerful insight into the debate as it has developed The recent wealth of material published in this area has not until now been collected in one volume Readings are arranged thematically carefully presenting a balanced representation of the subject as it stands It will be essential reading for students taking a course in the subject as well as being of considerable interest to the general reader Articles are arranged under the following headings Theories of Animal Ethics Animal Capacities Animals for Food Animal Experimentation Genetic Engineering of Animals Ethics and Wildlife Zoos Aquaria and Animals in Entertainment Companion Animals Legal Rights for Animals Readings from leading experts in the field including Peter Singer Mary Midgely and Bernard Rollin are featured as well as selections from Donald Griffin Mark Bekoff Jane Goodall Raymond Frey Barbara Orlans

Tom Regan and Baird Callicott There is an emphasis on balancing classic and contemporary readings with a view to presenting debates as they stand at this point in time Each chapter is introduced by the editors and study questions feature at the end The foreword has been written by Bernard Rollin This will be appropriate reading for students taking courses in philosophy ethics zoology animal science psychology veterinary medicine law environmental science and religion Animals and Ethics - Third Edition Angus Taylor, 2009-05-27 Can animals be regarded as part of the moral community To what extent if at all do they have moral rights Are we wrong to eat them hunt them or use them for scientific research Can animal liberation be squared with the environmental movement Taylor traces the background of these debates from Aristotle to Darwin and sets out the views of numerous contemporary philosophers including Peter Singer Tom Regan Mary Anne Warren J Baird Callicott and Martha Nussbaum with ethical theories ranging from utilitarianism to eco feminism The new edition also includes provocative quotations from some of the major writers in the field As the final chapter insists animal ethics is more than just an academic question it is intimately connected both to our understanding of what it means to be human and to pressing current issues such as food shortages environmental degradation and climate change Animals and Ethics Angus Taylor, 2003-05-12 A previous edition of this book appeared under the title Maggies Monkeys and Morals The new edition has been updated throughout Substantial new material has been added to the text including discussions of virtue ethics and Rawlsian contractarianism The bibliography has been significantly enlarged and now includes more than five hundred entries BOOK JACKET Pet Politics Susan Hunter, Richard A. Brisbin, 2016-02-15 Although scholars in the disciplines of law psychology philosophy and sociology have published a considerable number of prescriptive normative and theoretical studies of animals in society Pet Politics presents the first study of the development of companion animal or pet law and policy in Canada and the United States by political scientists The authors examine how people and governments classify three species of pets or companion animals cats dogs and horses for various degrees of legal protection They then detail how interest groups shape the agenda for companion animal legislation and regulation and the legislative and administrative formulation of anticruelty kennel licensing horse slaughter feral and roaming cat and breed ban policies Finally they examine the enforcement of these laws and policies by agencies and the courts Using an eclectic mix of original empirical data original case studies and interviews and relying on general theories and research about the policy process and the sociopolitical function of legality the authors illustrate that pet policy is a unique field of political struggle a conflict that originates from differing perspectives about whether pets are property or autonomous beings and clashing norms about the care of animals The result of the political struggle the authors argue is difficulty in the enactment of policies and especially in the implementation and enforcement of laws that might improve the welfare of companion animals Animals Matter Marc Bekoff, 2007-11-13 Nonhuman animals have many of the same feelings we do They get hurt they suffer they are happy and they take care of each other Marc Bekoff a renowned biologist specializing in animal minds and emotions guides readers from high school age up including older adults who want a basic introduction to the topic in looking at scientific research philosophical ideas and humane values that argue for the ethical and compassionate treatment of animals Citing the latest scientific studies and tackling controversies with conviction he zeroes in on the important questions inviting reader participation with thought experiments and ideas for action Among the questions considered Are some species more valuable or more important than others Do some animals feel pain and suffering and not others Do animals feel emotions Should endangered animals be reintroduced to places where they originally lived Should animals be kept in captivity Are there alternatives to using animals for food clothing cosmetic testing and dissection in the science classroom What can we learn by imagining what it feels like to be a dog or a cat or a mouse or an ant What can we do to make a difference in animals quality of life Bekoff urges us not only to understand and protect animals especially those whose help we want for our research and other human needs but to love and respect them as our fellow beings on this planet that we all want to share in peace

Philosophy Hans E. Bynagle, 2006-05-30 A newly reorganized up to date overview of key reference works in philosophy reflects a veritable explosion of reference sources both print and online published over the past decade Nearly 300 of the 700 entries consist of new material with an additional 50 entries substantially revised and updated English language sources are emphasized but important non English works are also well represented For professional philosophers philosophy educators students from beginning to graduate and librarians This guide represents a substantial updating and complete re organization of the author s 1997 Philosophy A Guide to the Reference Literature 2nd edition 1st edition 1986 It reflects a veritable explosion of reference sources both print and online in the field of philosophy over the past decade Nearly 300 entries or 40 percent are entirely new An additional 50 or so entries have substantial revisions recording new editions changes in serial publications series and websites or additional volumes completed in multi volume sets In addition it has been entirely re organized along topical lines Each of its twenty three chapters is divided into four sections 1 general sources 2 history of philosophy 3 branches of philosophy and 4 miscellanea This new arrangement accords better with the greatly expanded range of philosophy reference sources and makes it easier for the user to identify related sources of different types bibliographies dictionaries web gateways etc on the same topic Like its predecessor Guide to Reference Sources in Philosophy the 3rd edition aims to serve a diverse audience of professional philosophers philosophy educators students from beginning to graduate and librarians All entries include generous annotations that are often evaluative as well as descriptive English language sources are emphasized but non English works important to researchers or of interest to users with facility in other languages are also well represented

Why Animal Suffering Matters Andrew Linzey, 2013-11-01 How we treat animals arouses strong emotions Many people are repulsed by photographs of cruelty to animals and respond passionately to how we make animals suffer for food commerce and sport But is this as some argue a purely emotional issue Are there really no rational grounds for opposing our current treatment of animals In Why Animal Suffering Matters Andrew Linzey argues that when analyzed impartially the rational case for extending moral solicitude to all sentient beings is much stronger than many suppose. Indeed Linzey shows that many of the justifications for inflicting animal suffering in fact provide grounds for protecting them. Because animals lack reason or souls or language harming them is not an offense. Linzey suggests that just the opposite is true that the inability of animals to give or withhold consent, their inability to represent their interests, their moral innocence and their relative defenselessness all compel us not to harm them. Andrew Linzey further shows that the arguments in favor of three controversial practices: hunting with dogs, fur farming and commercial sealing cannot withstand rational critique. He considers the economic, legal and political issues surrounding each of these practices, appealing not to our emotions but to our reason and shows that they are rationally unsupportable and morally repugnant. In this superbly argued and deeply engaging book Linzey pioneers a new theory about why animal suffering matters, maintaining that sentient animals like infants and young children should be accorded a special moral status.

People Promoting and People Opposing Animal Rights John M. Kistler, 2002-11-30. What is the difference between animal rights and animal welfare? What inspires people to take on the different causes of non-human animals? How do people vary in their views on the rights of animals? Students will be encouraged to think critically as they discover there are no black and white answers to these and other questions. This fascinating collection of profiles is written by and about those who are actively involved in the pro/con aspects of the animal rights and animal welfare movements. Over 35 individual stories written by those who are on the frontlines fighting for what they believe bring the controversies surrounding animal rights and welfare into sharp focus. The same interview questions were asked of each participant. Readers will enjoy the personal element of these profiles while discovering the similarities and differences among those involved in these movements. An introduction to the volume provides students with the definitions and background information they need to clearly understand the entries that follow and to encourage them to question what they read and to draw their own conclusions.
