Applied Linguistics Li Wei, 2013-09-25 In this complete survey of the theories, methods and key findings within applied linguistics, students are introduced to core research questions and the various approaches to tackling these. Provides a comprehensive introduction to this interdisciplinary field of research and practice dealing with practical issues of language and communication. Takes a problem-solving approach, introducing students to key research questions and guiding them through the various ways of tackling these. Features additional study aids throughout, including chapter outlines, learning objectives, key terms, research questions and answers, study questions and recommended further readings. Enables students to identify every day language and communication issues and to draw on their own personal experiences. Edited by a leading figure in the field, heading up an experienced and interdisciplinary team of contributors from the renowned department of applied linguistics at Birkbeck College, University of London, resulting in a unique combination of knowledge, skills and strength from scholars who teach and research together. Parliamentary Debates (Hansard). Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons, 2013. Uncertain citizenship Anne-Marie Fortier, 2021-04-13 Uncertainty is central to the governance of citizenship, but in ways that erase even deny this uncertainty. This book investigates uncertain citizenship from the unique vantage point of citizenisation, twenty-first century integration and naturalisation measures that make and unmake citizens and migrants while indefinitely holding many applicants for citizenship in what Fortier calls the waiting room of citizenship. Fortier's distinctive theory of citizenisation foregrounds how the full achievement of citizenship is a promise that is always deferred if migrants and citizens are continuously citizenised, so too are they migrantised. Citizenisation and migrantisation are intimately linked within the structures of racial governmentality that enables the citizenship of racially minoritised citizens to be questioned and that casts them as perpetual migrants. Drawing on multi-sited fieldwork with migrants applying for citizenship or settlement and with intermediaries of the state tasked with implementing citizenisation measures and policies, Fortier brings life to the waiting room of citizenship, giving rich empirical backing to her original theoretical claims. Scrutinising life in the waiting room enables Fortier to analyse how citizenship takes place, takes time and takes hold in ways that conform, exceed and confound frames of reference laid out in both citizenisation policies and taken-for-granted understandings of the citizen and the migrant. Uncertain Citizenship's nuanced account of the social and institutional function of citizenisation and migrantisation offers its readers a grasp of the array of racial inequalities that citizenisation produces and reproduces while providing theoretical and empirical tools to address these inequalities.
