temperatures generated in gases by shock waves give rise to physical and chemical phenomena such as molecular vibrational excitation dissociation ionization chemical reactions and inherently related radiation In continuum regime these processes start from the wave front so that generally the gaseous media behind shock waves may be in a thermodynamic and chemical non equilibrium state This book presents the state of knowledge of these phenomena Thus the thermodynamic properties of high temperature gases including the plasma state are described as well as the kinetics of the various chemical phenomena cited above Numerous results of measurement and computation of vibrational relaxation times dissociation and reaction rate constants are given and various ionization and radiative mechanisms and processes are presented The coupling between these different phenomena is taken into account as well as their interaction with the flow field Particular points such as the case of rarefied flows and the inside of the shock wave itself are also examined Examples of specific non equilibrium flows are given generally corresponding to those encountered during spatial missions or in shock tube experiments

Non-lte Radiative Transfer In The Atmosphere Manuel Lopez-puertas, Fredric William Taylor, 2001-12-13 During the last three decades it has become increasingly clear that atmospheric modelling and remote sounding of the atmosphere from space to name just two important application areas are affected by non equilibrium processes which have not been incorporated into traditional radiative transfer calculations These processes dubbed non LTE are therefore the subject of growing interest among scholars and researchers dealing with the upper atmosphere This important book provides the first comprehensive and global description of non LTE infrared emissions in the atmosphere of the Earth and other planets starting with the theoretical foundations and progressing to the most important applications Besides giving an introduction to this complex subject it is a guide to the state of the art in incorporating non LTE processes into radiative transfer algorithms and computer models of the atmosphere Numerous examples are presented of the application of these methods to a atmospheric remote sensing b atmospheric energy budget cooling and heating rate calculations and c atmospheres other than the Earth's
