Introduction to Politics Robert Garner, Peter Ferdinand, Stephanie Lawson, 2016 Combining theory comparative politics and international relations Introduction to Politics provides a perfect introduction to the subject for students embarking on university level study As the only introductory text to cover both comparative politics and international relations and contextualise this material with a wide range of international examples it is the most comprehensive authoritative and global introductory politics textbook on the market Written by three experts in the field this book takes a balanced approach to the subject serving as a strong foundation for further study The material is explored in an accessible way for introductory study but takes an analytical approach which encourages more critical study and debate helping students to develop the vital skills they need for a politics degree An Online Resource Centre accompanies this text and includes a range of resources for both students and lecturers For students Learn more about the people behind the theory with the Key Thinkers resource Test your understanding of the chapter content and receive instant feedback with self marking multiple choice questions Revise key terms and concepts with an online flashcard glossary For registered lecturers Encourage students to think critically with political scenario exercises Reinforce key themes from each chapter with suggested discussion questions for use in seminars Use the adaptable PowerPoint slides as the basis for a lecture presentation or as hand outs in class Save time preparing assessments and seminars with a fully updated test bank of questions

Maryland Reports Maryland. Court of Appeals,2011 Code of Federal Regulations ,2006 Energy from the Desert Keiichi Komoto,2013 This 4th volume in the established Energy From The Desert series examines and evaluates the potential and feasibility of Very Large Scale Photovoltaic Power Generation VLS PV systems which have capacities ranging from several megawatts to gigawatts and to develop practical project proposals toward implementing the VLS PV systems in the future Comprehensively analysing all major issues involved in such large scale applications based on the latest scientific and technological developments and by means of close international co operation with experts from different countries From the perspective of the global energy situation global warming and other environmental issues it is apparent that VLS PV systems can contribute substantially to global energy needs become economically and technologically feasible soon contribute significantly to the global environment protection contribute significantly to socio economic development Energy policies around the world are gradually changing direction to focus less on nuclear energy with the expectation to turn to denuclearization entirely with the negative impacts of nuclear energy while in parallel the importance of and expectations for renewable energy technologies are increasing drastically as possible energy infrastructure as well as environmental friendly technology This book recognises that very large scale solar electricity generation provides economic social and environmental benefits security of electricity supply and fair access to affordable and sustainable energy solutions and that VLS PV systems must be one of the promising options for large scale deployment of PV systems and renewable energy technologies From Flood Safety to Spatial Management Emmy Bergsma,2018-07-25 This book deals with the introduction of a new type of spatial measures in flood governance In contrast to traditional safety measures that aim to provide protection against floods by building structural flood defenses such as levees and flood walls the goal of spatial measures is to reduce the exposure to flood risks by changing the spatial layout of flood prone areas By limiting developments and flood proofing buildings in areas at risk to flooding investments in structural flood defenses can be circumvented and vulnerabilities reduce World wide spatial measures are gaining attractiveness as a response strategy to increasing flood risks caused by climate change and urbanization The introduction of spatial measures in flood governance involves more than the simple development of new policies and laws Research has demonstrated that the implementation of spatial measures can have huge implications for how costs and responsibilities are divided between different levels of governance and between public and private actors changing the whole organization behind flood governance Both for the effectiveness and for the legitimacy of spatial flood governance strategies it is important that these distributive implications are well understood This book describes the introduction of spatial measures in the context of two very different delta countries the Netherlands and the United States In the United States a spatial flood governance strategy was already developed in the mid 20th century whereas in the Netherlands a safety paradigm institutionalized over the course of the 20th century and spatial measures have only recently been introduced By analyzing the science policy interactions underlying the implementation of spatial measures in both countries this book shows how under the influence of different types of experts engineers in the Netherlands and social geographers in the United States different spatial flood management strategies emerged with different distributive implications each with its own challenges for effectiveness and legitimacy

Last Ditch House Shane Dunphy, 2007 At the end of his bestselling debut Wednesday's Child Shane Dunphy was burnt out and wrote of leaving his job as a child protection worker But he returned to the profession he loved and in Last Ditch House he revisits four more cases from his childcare days using a technique similar to the first book The narrative is set a year after Wednesday's Child and tells of a summer spent working with four unusual cases for a voluntary child protection group Last Ditch House is more complex richer and a little darker than its predecessor and Shane Dunphy has consciously given more of himself this time going into his own motivations and feelings in greater detail The cases recounted here are those of four children from very different aspects of Irish society each with a unique story to tell Once again Shane Dunphy draws on the real life experience of fifteen years working in child protection and while these events did not in reality happen concurrently he has woven them together to create a non fiction book that has the pace atmosphere and dialogue of a thriller Yet everything recounted here really happened These stories shocking heart breaking and inspiring are all true
