United States. Congress. Joint Economic Committee. Subcommittee on Economic Progress,1966 Psychology of Aging Aimee Spector,2017-03-02 The psychology of aging is an exciting and rapidly developing field This volume provides a collection of classic original and often widely cited papers including some older papers which may be hard to find through conventional searches Taken together they help to address some key questions what are the cognitive changes related to aging Is mental exercise useful To what extent might intelligence education or stimulating mental activities delay or even reduce cognitive symptoms of dementia However the book goes well beyond cognition and addresses social and emotional changes in aging as well as looking at how lifestyle factors may be influential in psychological functioning The section on the psychology of dementia covers the evolving psychological models plus innovative types of psychological interventions As more people live to an age where they are dependent on others the book also considers the stresses on carers and how carers can be supported Lastly other aspects of mental health problems in old age are addressed including depression PTSD and personality disorder This collection of intriguing and inspiring papers will liven up the shelves of students researchers and academics in the field as well as being a very useful resource for research teaching and study Standards-based School Mathematics Curricula Sharon L. Senk,Denisse R. Thompson,2020-07-24 The Curriculum and Evaluation Standards for School Mathematics published by the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics in 1989 set forth a broad vision of mathematical content and pedagogy for grades K 12 in the United States These Standards prompted the development of Standards based mathematics curricula What features characterize Standards based curricula How well do such curricula work To answer these questions the editors invited researchers who had investigated the implementation of 12 different

Standards based mathematics curricula to describe the effects of these curricula on students learning and achievement and to provide evidence for any claims they made In particular authors were asked to identify content on which performance of students using Standards based materials differed from that of students using more traditional materials and content on which performance of these two groups of students was virtually identical Additionally four scholars not involved with the development of any of the materials were invited to write critical commentaries on the work reported in the other chapters Section I of Standards Based School Mathematics Curricula provides a historical background to place the current curriculum reform efforts in perspective a summary of recent recommendations to reform school mathematics and a discussion of issues that arise when conducting research on student outcomes Sections II III and IV are devoted to research on mathematics curriculum projects for elementary middle and high schools respectively The final section is a commentary by Jeremy Kilpatrick Regents Professor of Mathematics Education at the University of Georgia on the research reported in this book It provides a historical perspective on the use of research to guide mathematics curriculum reform in schools and makes additional recommendations for further research In addition to the references provided at the end of each chapter other references about the Standards based curriculum projects are provided at the end of the book This volume is a valuable resource for all participants in discussions about school mathematics curricula including professors and graduate students interested in mathematics education curriculum development program evaluation or the history of education educational policy makers teachers parents principals and other school administrators The editors hope that the large body of empirical evidence and the thoughtful discussion of educational values found in this book will enable readers to engage in informed civil discourse about the goals and methods of school mathematics curricula and related research     The Medical times and gazette ,1872     State ,1988
