Web-Based Education: Learning from Experience Aggarwal, Anil K., 2002-07-01. Successful use of information and communication technologies depends on usable designs that do not require expensive training, accommodate the needs of diverse users and are low cost. There is a growing demand and increasing pressure for adopting innovative approaches to the design and delivery of education; hence the use of online learning, also called E learning, as a mode of study. This is partly due to the increasing number of learners and the limited resources available to meet a wide range of various needs, backgrounds, expectations, skills, levels, ages, abilities, and disabilities. The advances of new technology and communications WWW, Human Computer Interaction, and Multimedia have made it possible to reach out to a bigger audience around the globe. By focusing on the issues that have impact on the usability of online learning programs and their implementation, Usability Evaluation of Online Learning Programs specifically fills in a gap in this area which is particularly invaluable to practitioners.

Fragmentation in Sleep and Mind: Linking Dissociative Symptoms, Sleep, and Memory Sue Llewellyn, Dalena van Heugten - van der Kloet, 2018-03-27. Fragmented dissociated consciousness can characterize the mind in both wake and sleep states. Dissociative symptoms during sleep include vivid dreaming, nightmares, and alterations in objective sleep parameters, e.g., lengthening of REM sleep. During waking hours, dissociative symptoms exhibit disparate characteristics encompassing memory problems, excessive daydreaming, absentmindedness, and impairments and discontinuities in perceptions of the self, identity, and the environment. Llewellyn has theorized that a progressive and enduring de-differentiation of wake and dream states of consciousness eventually results in schizophrenia; a lesser degree of de-differentiation may have implications for dissociative symptoms. Against a background of de-differentiation between the dream and wake states, the papers in this volume link consciousness, memory, and mental illness with a special interest for dissociative symptoms
