All Souls A Family Story From Southie:

All Souls Michael Patrick MacDonald, 2010-07-28 A breakaway bestseller since its first printing All Souls takes us deep into Michael Patrick MacDonald's Southie the proudly insular neighborhood with the highest concentration of white poverty in America Rocked by Whitey Bulger's crime schemes and busing riots MacDonald's Southie is populated by sharply hewn characters like his Ma a miniskirted accordion playing single mother who endures the deaths of four of her eleven children Nearly suffocated by his grief and his community's code of silence MacDonald tells his family story here with gritty but moving honesty The Columbia Documentary History of Race and Ethnicity in America Ronald H. Bayor, 2004 With more than 240 primary sources this introduction to a complex topic is a resource for student research Blackness and Transatlantic Irish Identity Lauren Onkey, 2011-02-09 Blackness and Transatlantic Irish Identity analyzes the long history of imagined and real relationships between the Irish and African Americans Onkey examines how Irish and Irish American identity is often constructed through or against African Americans mapping this through the work of writers playwrights political activists and musicians Writing Hard Stories Melanie Brooks, 2017-02-07 Some of the country's most admired authors including Andre Dubus III Mark Doty Marianne Leone Michael Patrick MacDonald Richard Blanco Abigail Thomas Kate Bornstein Jerald Walker and Kyoko Mori describe their treks through dark memories and breakthrough moments and attest to the healing power of putting words to experience What does it take to write an honest memoir And what happens to us when we embark on that journey Melanie Brooks sought guidance from the memoirists who most moved her to answer these questions Called an essential book for creative writers by Poets about violence and shunning and about the process of writing It will serve as a tool for teachers of writing and give readers an intimate look into the lives of the authors they love Authors profiled in Writing Hard Stories Andre Dubus III Sue William Silverman Michael Patrick MacDonald Joan Wickersham Kyoko Mori Richard Hoffman Suzanne Strempek Shea Abigail Thomas Monica Wood Mark Doty Edwidge Danticat Marianne Leone Jerald Walker Kate Bornstein Jessica Handler Richard Blanco Alysia Abbott and Kim Stafford Insights from Writing Hard Stories Why we endeavor collectively to write a book or paint a canvas or write a symphony is to understand who we are as human beings and it's that shared knowledge that somehow helps us to survive Richard Blanco Here's what you need to understand your brothers or family or friends are going to have their own stories to tell You don't have to tell the family story You have to tell your story of being in that family Andre Dubus III We all need a way to express or make something out of experiences that otherwise have no meaning If what you want is clarity and meaning you have to break the secrets over your knee and make something of those ingredients Abigail Thomas What we remember and how we remember it really tells us how we became who we became Michael Patrick MacDonald The reason I write memoir is to be able to see the experience itself I hardly know what I think until I write Writing is a way to organize your life give it a frame give it a structure so that you can really see what it was that happened Sue William Silverman After a while in the process you have some distance and you start thinking of it as a story not as your story It was a personal grief but no longer personal It s something that has not just happened to me and my family but something that s happened in the world Edwidge Danticat Tibetan Buddhists believe that eloquence is the telling of a truth in such a way that it eases suffering The more suffering that is eased by your telling of the truth the more eloquent you are That s all you can really hope for being eloquent in that fashion All you have to do is respond to your story honestly and that s the ideal Kate Bornstein You can never entirely redeem the experience You can t make it not hurt anymore But you can make it beautiful enough so that there s something to balance it in the other scale And if you understand that word beautiful as not necessarily pretty then you re getting close to recognizing the integrative power of restoring the balance which is restoring the truth Richard Hoffman At the Altar of the Bottom Line Tom Juravich, 2009 Based on extensive interviews with workers in four different industries this book takes us behind the statistics of the economic collapse and into the lives of Americans who are struggling to make ends meet and support their families Tom Juravich combines oral history with social and economic analysis to provide a vivid account of the multiple challenges presented in today s workplaces At a Verizon call center in Andover Massachusetts customer service reps find themselves overwhelmed by the pace of work and the constant monitoring They describe a daily routine marked by regimentation intense pressure to sell and unrelenting stress In New Bedford undocumented Guatemalans in the fish processing industry are fired if they don t work fast enough cheated out of wages and mistreated by supervisors Juravich describes a brutal immigration raid by U S Immigration and Customs Enforcement that divided families and forced workers further underground Juravich then takes us inside the operating rooms at the Boston Medical Center where hospital consolidation has brought a new bottom line philosophy that has fundamentally altered the way patient care is delivered Surgery takes place almost non stop driving some nurses from their chosen profession and leaving those who remain exhausted The final case study looks at the shuttering of the Jones Beloit plant an internationally known manufacturer of machinery for the paper industry Despite the best efforts of highly skilled and productive workers to save their plant it was abruptly closed and they were abandoned after their CEO recklessly became involved in a shaky foreign investment Juravich argues that workers face a series of paradoxes in the contemporary American workplace They can no longer assume that large established firms create good jobs The new working conditions often resemble what was traditionally associated with marginal and low wage employers He concludes that we must bring a discussion about the quality of jobs back into the public discourse and that a good jobs strategy is a fundamental building block to economic recovery Workers voices are front and center in this highly readable book It includes striking photographs by Paul Shoul and a CD that presents a series of audio documentaries with excerpts from the interviews as well as four original songs written and performed by Juravich

Studies in Law, Politics, and Society Austin Sarat, 2009-09-17 Rights and rights talk have a long and storied history and have occupied a crucial place in the ideology of liberal legalism With the development of Critical Legal Studies in the 1970s and 80s rights were subject to extensive critique This work takes stock of the field charts its progress and points the way for its future development

Burning Dislike Martin Sanchez-Jankowski,2016-05-17 Violence in schools has more potential to involve large numbers of students produce injuries disrupt instructional time and cause property damage than any other form of youth violence Burning Dislike is the first book to use direct observation of everyday violent interactions to explore ethnic conflict in high schools Why do young people engage in violence while in school What is it about ethnicity that leads to fights Through the use of two direct observational studies conducted twenty six years apart Mart n S nchez Jankowski documents the process of ethnic school violence from start to finish In addition to shedding light on what causes this type of violence and how it progresses over time Burning Dislike provides strategic policy suggestions to address this troubling phenomenon

Children in Prison Jerome Gold,2019-07-02 Almost 330 000 children in America are in prison in a detention center on probation or parole or otherwise under the control of the criminal justice system In a time of nascent prison reform these children are often left out of the conversation This book chronicles the experiences of six young people in Ash Meadow in Washington State Written from the perspective of a prison rehabilitation counselor this book provides a firsthand account of these children s lives during and after their stay These accounts show how domestic violence inequality and poor adult modeling influence the decisions that children make later in life

Making Memory Matter Lisa Saltzman,2006-10-02 In an ancient account of painting s origins a woman traces the shadow of her departing lover on the wall in an act that anticipates future grief and commemoration Lisa Saltzman shows here that nearly two thousand years after this story was first told contemporary artists are returning to similar strategies of remembrance ranging from vaudevillian silhouettes and sepulchral casts to incinerated architectures and ghostly processions Exploring these artists work Saltzman demonstrates that their methods have now eclipsed painting and traditional sculpture as preeminent forms of visual representation She pays particular attention to the groundbreaking art of Krzysztof Wodiczko who is known for his projections of historical subjects Kara Walker who creates powerful silhouetted images of racial violence in American history and Rachel Whiteread whose work centers on making casts of empty interior spaces Each of the artists Saltzman discusses is struggling with the roles that history and memory have come to play in an age when any historical statement is subject to question and doubt In identifying this new and powerful movement she provides a framework for understanding the art of our time

Framing the South Allison Graham,2003-05-01 What patterns emerge in media coverage and character depiction of Southern men and women blacks and whites in the years between 1954 and 1976 How do portrayals of the region and the equal rights movement illuminate the spirit and experience of the South and of the nation as a whole In Framing the South Allison Graham examines the ways in which the media particularly television and film presented Southerners during the period of the civil rights revolution Graham analyzes depictions of southern race and social class in a wide range of Hollywood films including A Streetcar Named Desire The Three Faces of Eve and A Face in the Crowd from the 1950s later films like Cool Hand Luke, In the Heat of the Night and Mississippi Burning and MGM's Elvis Presley vehicles. She traces how films have confronted or avoided issues of racism over the years, paralleling Hollywood depictions with the tamer characterization of the likeable hillbilly popularized in television's The Real McCoys and The Andy Griffith Show. Graham reinforces the political impact of these fictional representations by examining media coverage of civil rights demonstrations, including the documentary Crisis Behind the Presidential Commitment which reported the clash between Robert Kennedy and Governor George Wallace over the integration of the University of Alabama. She concludes with a provocative analysis of Forrest Gump, identifying the popular film as a retelling of post World War II Southern history.
