Blue Talk and Love Mecca Jamilah Sullivan, 2015-03-18 The award winning collection Blue Talk and Love tells the stories of girls and women of color navigating the moods and mazes of urban daily life Set in various enclaves of New York City including the middle class Hamilton Heights section of Harlem the black queer social world of the West Village the Spanish speaking borderland between Harlem and Washington Heights and historic Tin Pan Alley the collection uses magic realism historical fiction satire and more to highlight young black women s inner lives The storylines range widely a big bodied teenage girl from Harlem discovers her sexuality in the midst of racial tensions at her Upper East Side school four young women from Newark New Jersey are charged with assaulting the man who threatens to rape them a pair of conjoined black female twins born into slavery make their fame as stage performers in the Big City In each story the characters push past what is expected of them learning to celebrate their voices and their lives In honor of Mecca Sullivan s being named the recipient of the 2018 Judith A Markowitz Lambda Award as an emerging LGBTQ writer Riverdale Avenue Books has released a second edition of her acclaimed collection for which the Lambda judges called Sullivan An essential writer of our present moment We are so proud of Mecca for receiving this prestigious award She made her fiction debut with Riverdale Avenue Books five years ago when we were both new to the literary scene and we are publishing an updated second edition with the wonderful quote from Ntozake Shange on the cover to commemorate this achievement said Publisher Lori Perkins

AfroSurrealism Rochelle Spencer, 2019-12-09 Examining the surrealist novels of several contemporary writers including Edwidge Danticat Tananarive Due Nalo Hopkinson Junot Diaz Helen Oyeyemi and Colson Whitehead AfroSurrealism the first book length exploration of AfroSurreal fiction argues that we have entered a new and exciting era of the black novel one that is more invested than ever before in the cross sections of science technology history folklore and myth Building on traditional surrealist scholarship and black studies criticism the author contends that as technology has become ubiquitous the ways in which writers write has changed writers are producing more surrealist texts to represent the psychological challenges that have arisen during an era of rapid social and technological transitions For black writers this has meant not only a return to Surrealism but also a complete restructuring in the way that both past and present are conceived as technology rather than being a means for demeaning and brutalizing a black labor force has become an empowering means of sharing information Presenting analyses of contemporary AfroSurreal fiction this volume examines the ways in which contemporary writers grapple with the psychology underlying this futuristic technology presenting a cautiously optimistic view of the future together with a hope for better understanding of the past As such it will appeal to scholars of cultural media and literary studies with interests in the contemporary novel Surrealism and black fiction Training School for Negro Girls Camille

Acker, 2021-06-02 Funny poignant stirring and heartbreaking This book is our collective coming of age story required reading for your favorite Black girl Essence In her debut short story collection Camille Acker unleashes the irony and tragic comedy of respectability onto a wide ranging cast of characters all of whom call Washington DC home A woke millennial tries to fight gentrification only to learn she s part of the problem a grade school teacher dreams of a better DC only to take out her frustrations on her students and a young piano player wins a competition only to learn the prize is worthless Ultimately they are confronted with the fact that respectability does not equal freedom Instead they must learn to trust their own conflicted judgment and fight to create their own sense of space and self An exciting literary achievement by a significant emerging talent This flawlessly executed work reinvigorates the short fiction genre BUST Acker navigates her characters lives with humor heart and grace I loved these stories Lisa Ko award winning author of The Leavers The lives of the girls and women featured in these stories are rendered with tremendous warmth humor and care a wonderful debut Jamel Brinkley author of A Lucky Man A timely welcome book The Millions It s hard to believe this brilliant collection of stories is a debut so beautifully does Camille Acker navigate difficult fictional terrain and complicated themes including issues like gentrification race and respectability politics Nylon

Outpouring Dean Francis Alfar, 2017-02-16 On November 7 2013 Typhoon Yolanda international name Haiyan the strongest storm ever recorded to make landfall hit the Visayas region of the Philippines devastating the provinces of Samar and Leyte The storm claimed over 6 000 lives and leveled entire towns and cities A few days after the storm writer Dean Francis Alfar issued a call asking other writers to contribute stories for an anthology the proceeds of which will go to charity The final result is an anthology of different stories by authors you d never expect to share a same table of contents celebrating the power of words and compassion over the destructive forces of nature Ethnicity and the American Short Story Julie Brown, 2013-05-13 How do different ethnic groups approach the short story form Do different groups develop culture related themes Do oral traditions within a particular culture shape the way in which written stories are told Why does the community loom so large in ethnic stories How do such traditional forms as African American slave narratives or the Chinese talk story shape the modern short story Which writers of color should be added to the canon Why have some minority writers been ignored for such a long time How does a person of color write for white publishers editors and readers Each essay in this collection of original studies addresses these questions and other related concerns It is common knowledge that most scholarly work on the short story has been on white writers This collection is the first work to specifically focus on short story practice by ethnic minorities in America ranging from African Americans to Native Americans Chinese Americans to Hispanic Americans The number of women writers discussed will be of particular interest to women studies and genre studies researchers and the collections will be of vital interest to scholars working in American literature narrative theory and multicultural studies Meet Behind Mars Renee Simms, 2018-05-01 Explores the bonds of family neighbors lovers and friends as they are tested in new environments I feel like I can t tell one story about a giant mustard penis because it's not about a mustard penis only but about all of these incidents together in context and through time. So begins the title story in Renee Simms's debut short story collection Meet Behind Mars, a revealing look at how geography, memory, ancestry, and desire influence our personal relationships. In many of her stories, Simms exposes her own interest in issues concerning time and space. For example, in Rebel Airplanes, an L.A. engineer works by day on city sewers and by night on R.C. planes that she yearns to launch into the cosmos. The character-driven stories in Meet Behind Mars offer beautiful insight into the emotional lives of caretakers, auto workers, dancers, and pawn shop employees. In High Country, a frustrated would-be novelist considers ditching her family in the middle of the desert. In Dive, an adoptee returns to her adoptive home still haunted by histories she does not know. Simms writes from the voice of women and girls who struggle under structural oppression and draws from the storytelling tradition best represented by writers like Edward P. Jones, whose characters have experiences that are specific to black Americans living in the late twentieth and twenty-first centuries. One instance of this is in The Art of Heroine Worship, in which black families integrate into a white suburb of Detroit in the 1970s. The stories in this collection span forty years and two continents and range in structure from epistolary to traditionally structured realism with touches of absurdity, humor, and magic. Meet Behind Mars will appeal to readers interested in contemporary literary fiction.
