20 June Integrated Science Paper 3 Zimsec:

The European Union and Global Development S. Gänzle, S. Grimm, D. Makhan, 2012-04-17 An assessment of the capacity of the EU to coordinate actors and policies with regards to global development The authors argue that the EU and its member states have the potential to act for global development when they are able to improve policy and actor coherence such as through better linking of bilateral and community programmes International Handbook of Mathematical Learning Difficulties Annemarie Fritz, Vitor Geraldi Haase, Pekka Räsänen, 2019-01-30 This comprehensive volume provides teachers researchers and education professionals with cutting edge knowledge developed in the last decades by the educational behavioural and neurosciences integrating cognitive developmental and socioeconomic approaches to deal with the problems children face in learning mathematics The neurocognitive mechanisms and the cognitive processes underlying acquisition of arithmetic abilities and their significance for education have been the subject of intense research in the last few decades but the most part of this research has been conducted in non applied settings and there is still a deep discrepancy between the level of scientific knowledge and its implementation into actual educational settings Now it is time to bring the results from the laboratory to the classroom Apart from bringing the theoretical discussions to educational settings the volume presents a wide range of methods for early detection of children with risks in mathematics learning and strategies to develop effective interventions based on innovative cognitive test instruments It also provides insights to translate research knowledge into public policies in order to address socioeconomic issues And it does so from an international perspective dedicating a whole section to the cultural diversity of mathematics learning difficulties in different parts of the world All of this makes the International Handbook of Mathematical Learning Difficulties an essential tool for those involved in the daily struggle to prepare the future generations to succeed in the global knowledge society The Zimbabwe Science News, 1992

Village Chicken Production Systems in Rural Africa Aichi J. Kitayama, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 1998-01-01 The poultry production systems of Africa are mainly based on the scavenging indigenous chickens found in virtually all villages and households in rural Africa These systems are characterized by low output per bird Nevertheless over 70 percent of the poultry products and 20 percent of animal protein intake in most African countries come from this sector Therefore increased rural poultry production would result in a positive impact on household food security both in increased dietary intake and in income generation This study coincided with the World Food Summit held at FAO Rome from 13 to 17 November 1996 where delegations committed their governments and civil society to a global attack on food insecurity and poverty Poultry like other short cycle animal stock is viewed by the FAO Special Programme for Food Security SPFS as a crucial element in the struggle for sustained food production and poverty alleviation The guidelines provided in this study are particularly pertinent to those countries participating in the SPFS where village chicken production will have a substantial impact on increased household food security and gender equity Foreword Sustainable and Dynamic

Gender Integration in NATO Military Forces Lana Obradovic, 2016-04-15

Numerous states have passed gender integration legislation permanently admitting women into their military forces. As a result, states have dramatically increased women's numbers and improved gender equality by removing a number of restrictions. Yet despite changes and initiatives on both domestic and international levels to integrate gender perspectives into the military, not all states have improved to the same extent. Some have successfully promoted gender integration in the ranks by erasing all forms of discrimination, but others continue to impede it by setting limitations on equal access to careers, combat, and ranks. Why do states abandon their policies of exclusion and promote gender integration in a way that women's military participation becomes an integral part of military force? By examining twenty-four NATO member states, this book argues that civilian policymakers and military leadership no longer surrender to parochial gendered division of the roles but rather support integration to meet the recruitment numbers due to military modernization, professionalization, and technological advancements. Moreover, it proposes that increased pressure by the United Nations to integrate gender into security and NATO seeking standardization and consistency on the international level and women's movements on the domestic level are contributing to greater gender integration in the military. Winner of the 2015 ERGOMAS Best Book in Civil Military Relations Award.

Advances in Islamic Finance, Marketing, and Management Dilip Mutum, Mohammad Mohsin Butt, Mamunur Rashid, 2016-12-22

Of interest to both academics and practitioners who assist in making Shariah-centric strategies, this work is particularly important as Asia holds a major percentage of Islamic assets in South Asia, Southeast Asia, and the Middle East, with new opportunities opening in Central Asia.

Decentering Biotechnology Michael S. Carolan, 2016-04-08

Decentering Biotechnology explores the nature of technology, objects, and patent law. Investigating the patenting of organic life and the manner in which artifacts of biotechnology are given their objective appearance, Carolan details the enrollment mechanisms that give biotechnology its momentum. Drawing on legal judgments and case studies, this fascinating book examines the nature of objectification as a thought and a thing without which biotechnology as it is done today would not be possible. Unable to reject biotechnology per se, recognizing that such a rejection would essentialize the very objective categories shown to be manufactured Carolan ultimately argues for doing biotechnology differently A theoretically sophisticated analysis of the nature of objects and the role of technology as a form of life which shapes the social landscape Decentering Biotechnology engages with questions of power globalization development resistance exclusion and participation that arise from treating biological objects differently from conventional property forms As such it will appeal to social theorists sociologists and philosophers as well as scholars of law and science and technology studies
