

Surface Weather Map Showing Storm System in the Eastern United States

Warm air advection occurs where the wind flows across isotherms from higher pressure (closer to lower latitude) values. Thus, warm air is being transported across a cold front by the horizontal winds. Based on this fact alone, one would expect precipitation at that location to be rising, cold air advection occurs where the wind flows across the isotherms from lower (colder) values to higher (warmer) values. Thus, cold air is being transported by the wind to a warm location, producing falling temperatures.

Based on wind directions and the isotherm pattern on the Figure 2 map, determine the type of air advection (warm or cold) that would be occurring at each station.

3. Winds at station two are occurring at Station _____.

- ☐ A
- ☐ B
- ☐ C
- ☐ D

4. Could air advection occur occurring at Station _____.

- ☐ B
- ☐ C
- ☐ D

5. Considering the fact that advection of cold (and temperature) occurs associated with weather systems, what is the most likely weather condition at Station _____.

- ☐ warm
- ☐ cold

6. Meanwhile, what is the most likely weather condition at Station _____, air advection.

- ☐ warm
- ☐ cold

7. Now to the east of Station would be expected to have _____ air advection.

- ☐ warm
- ☐ cold

8. And while you observe from that city, the weather forecast (what would be) a high chance for the onset of higher cloud cover _____ air advection.

- ☐ warm
- ☐ cold
