Alternative And Bottom Up Peace Indicators:

Alternative and bottom-up peace indicators Roger Mac Ginty, 2016-04-14 There is widespread dissatisfaction with the current suite of evaluation and monitoring tools available to peacebuilders and those responding to conflict Yet despite this dissatisfaction there are few concrete moves to investigate alternative methods of gauging the success or failure of peace initiatives This volume explores alternative methods of assessing peace These methods tend to be bottom up and people centric and are interested in many aspects of conflict societies that orthodox top down indicators often miss The methods explored in this work chime with the contemporary interest in critical approaches to peace and conflict studies and approaches that are interested in local perspectives The volume also connects with a growing interest in civic epistemology or the co production of data whereby research subjects participate in the research and have a chance of understanding the relevance of research All of the contributors to the volume have significant field experience in conflict affected areas and their work is informed by an engagement with the everyday challenges and opportunities facing people in war zones This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Intervention and Statebuilding

Peace in Political Unsettlement Jan Pospisil, 2018-12-11 International peacebuilding has reached an impasse Its lofty ambitions have resulted in at best middling success punctuated by moments of outright failure The discrediting of the term liberal peacebuilding has seen it evolve to respond to the numerous critiques Notions such as inclusive peace merge the liberal paradigm with critical notions of context and the need to refine practices to take account of the local or complexity However how this would translate into clear guidance for the practice of peacebuilding is unclear Paradoxically contemporary peacebuilding policy has reached an unprecedented level of vagueness Peace in political unsettlement provides an alternative response rooted in a new discourse which aims to speak both to the experience of working in peace process settings It maps a new understanding of peace processes as institutionalising formalised political unsettlement and points out new ways of engaging with it The book points to the ways in which peace processes institutionalise forms of disagreement creating ongoing processes to manage it rather than resolve it It suggests a modest approach of providing hooks to future processes maximising the use of creative non solutions and practices of disrelation are discussed as pathways for pragmatic post war transitions It is only by understanding the nature and techniques of formalised political unsettlement that new constructive ways of engaging with it can be found
