Subject Guide to Books in Print, 1996 Coping with Defeat Jonathan Laurence, 2021-06-22 How do centralized institutional religions make peace with the modern state's displacement of their traditional prestige and power What are the factors that can promote the mutual acceptance of religious communities and the secular rule of law These are the questions posed in Jonathan Laurence's new book which argues that Roman Catholicism and Sunni Islam have trod surprisingly similar paths in their respective histories Contemporary Roman Catholicism and Sunni Islam both descend from religious states and empires the Papacy in the case of Catholicism and the Caliphate in the case of Islam As religio political orders the Western Church and the Islamic Caliphate ruled vast territories and populations Each set of religio political institutions made law controlled land and governed people for roughly four centuries Yet both suffered three similar upheavals and challenges the end of empires the rise of the modern national state and significant outward migrations from the home base of the religious tradition Laurence suggests that the historical experience of Catholicism offers a useful model for those concerned about the contemporary Sunni Muslim leadership s attitude toward the modern state Just as Catholicism worldwide benefited from the survival of the Vatican micro state and its ability to exert guidance over the religious belief and practice of Catholics worldwide so argues Laurence Muslim majority states should continue exert control over mosques imam training and religious education to reconcile Islam with the rule of law and thus with the authority of the secular state This book is based on prodigious archival research in Vatican and Ottoman Archives and on interviews conducted with senior officials responsible for Islamic affairs or public religious education in Algiers Ankara Casablanca Istanbul Oran Rabat Tunis and with senior interior ministry and foreign ministry officials in various European capitals responsible for relations with North African Turkish Qatari and Saudi ministries of Islamic and religious affairs

Construction Manual for Polymers + Membranes Jan Knippers, Jan Cremers, Markus Gabler, Julian Lienhard, 2012-12-17 Whether it be as translucent sheets broadly stretched membranes and inflated foil cushions or in graceful organic curves architecture today is utilizing plastics in the most disparate forms and for a wide variety of purposes Innovative technical developments are constantly improving its material properties at the same time there is a growing new awareness of its potential as a construction material While plastics used to be employed primarily as an inexpensive variant on traditional building materials they are increasingly regarded in the construction world today as a serious and viable alternative be it as supporting structures roofs facades or elements of interior design and decoration Thanks in large part to this inherent self sufficiency plastics are currently enjoying an unprecedented surge in popularity even among the international architectural avant garde as multiwall sheets or corrugated fiber reinforced panels or as filling between glass panes And the new generation of ecological bioplastics also pays tribute to the debate on sustainability ridding plastics of their lingering reputation as environmental offenders From the history of plastics and membranes in architecture to their material properties and requirements in construction and design the Plastics and Membranes Construction Manual cuts to the chase providing the kind of solid and comprehensive overview of the subject that readers have come to expect from the Im DETAIL series Selected project examples round off the reference work and make it indispensable for the day to day life of the professional planner and for every architecture library
