The Status of Student Involvement in University Governance in Kenya Mulinge, Munyae M., Arasa, Josephine N., 2017-05-05 This book examines the concept of the democratization of governance in universities in Kenya with particular emphasis on students involvement in governance processes and decision making Data were collected from members of the student community utilizing a structured self administered questionnaire and from purposively selected key informants and focus group discussants drawn from Kenyatta University representing the public sector and the United States International University representing the private sector The guiding argument for the study was that shared governance one of the principles of good governance is critical in enabling the universities to deliver their visions and the missions effectively The results revealed that while in principle Kenyan universities have embraced democratic governance in which all stakeholders including students have a role to play in practice they continue to violate the core principles of good governance particularly shared governance Specifically students who are major stakeholders in university education are largely excluded from significant structures of governance thereby limiting their influence and participation Although their representation is mainly provided via student self governance organs unions associations and or councils their effectiveness is undermined considerably by the lack of trust and confidence of the student body and the unending manipulation by top university administrators and external political actors Student active involvement in decision making is mainly confined to lower levels such as the school faculty and departmental programme The authors call for a paradigm shift in the involvement of students in the governance of universities in ways that discourage the current culture of tokenism and political correctness that characterizes public and private universities in Kenya Global Education Monitoring Report Global Education Monitoring Report Team, UNESCO, 2021-12-31 Non state actors role extends beyond provision of schooling to interventions at various education levels and influence spheres Alongside its review of progress towards SDG 4 including emerging evidence on the COVID 19 pandemic s impact the 2021 2 Global Education Monitoring Report urges governments to see all institutions students and teachers as part of a single system Standards information incentives and accountability should help governments protect respect and fulfil the right to education of all without turning their eyes away from privilege or exploitation Publicly funded education does not have to be publicly provided but disparity in education processes student outcomes and teacher working conditions must be addressed Efficiency and innovation rather than being commercial secrets should be diffused and practised by all To that end transparency and integrity in the public education policy process need to be maintained to block vested interests The report s rallying call Who chooses Who loses invites policymakers to question relationships with non state actors in terms of fundamental choices between equity and freedom of choice between encouraging initiative and setting standards between groups of varying means and needs between immediate commitments under SDG 4 and those to be progressively realized e g post secondary education and between education and other social sectors Textbook of Medical Administration and Leadership Erwin Loh, Paul W. Race and College Admissions Jamillah Moore, 2024-07-22 In the United States elite colleges and universities have historically catered primarily to wealthy predominantly white Americans creating barriers to entry for students of color Legal statutes have entrenched discriminatory practices within the admissions process perpetuating the underrepresentation of students of color at top tier institutions Given this reality the imperative for institutions to promote diversity through affirmative action remains crucial However recent legal challenges against affirmative action threaten to reinforce the status quo potentially perpetuating the dominance of predominantly white institutions in higher education This book takes an historical look at the pivotal role affirmative action has played in higher education It examines the admissions process through the eyes of a beneficiary of affirmative action and is the first text to share insights on the role eligibility plays in allowing universities to consider race in admitting applicants Detailed are the different types of affirmative action and how some colleges and universities use the policy as a tool to consider race and ethnicity as part of a holistic evaluation of applicants This work makes the case that race conscious admissions practices remain necessary in the fight for racial equity in higher education

Ethnography and Education in the South Diana Milstein, Regina Coeli Machado e Silva, Sofia Marques da Silva, 2025-03-28 This book presents results of educational ethnographies carried out in non hegemonic academies situated in the South The chapters bring out methodological and theoretical contributions and offer the possibility to discuss tensions between universalizable and local ways of knowing and the emergence of alternative schools of ethnographic thinking The term South transcends geographical location to refer allegorically to the generation of situated knowledge and experience and to original ways of producing knowledge that show how social theories about the modern world from non hegemonic academies are equal in intellectual rigour and often of greater political relevance to our changing world The chapters take education in an ample sense considering that educational processes extrapolate the school context and transcend institutionalised forms The various singularities of the educational ethnographies exposed here try to make explicit aspects of this tension between universalizable and local ways of knowing They reach issues of the relationship of collective knowledge with learning cognition socialization transmission of culture languages and corporeality They also analyse local educational practices in scenarios of intense political conflict where issues such as poverty migration gender ethnicity memory territory and academic training intersect The book brings to light the range of contributions that emerged since the last decade of the twentieth century and stimulates the understanding of the breadth and extension of Ethnography and Education It was originally published as a special issue of the journal Ethnography and Education
