

Module 1 – The Auditing and Assurance Framework

- Assurance services are independent professional services that aim to improve the quality, relevance and reliability of information necessary for decision making.
- An audit is a specific type of assurance engagement focusing on historical financial information.
- Assurance services are divided between:
  - Audits of historical financial information
  - Reviews of historical financial information
  - Assurance engagements other than audits and reviews of historical financial information
- Auditing and assurance are governed by 2 separate but related sets of standards: auditing standards (International Standards on Auditing – ISA) that are concerned with audits of historical financial information; and assurance standards (International Standards on Review Engagements – ISRE) that are concerned with all other types of assurance engagements.
