Kashmir as a Borderland Antía Mato Bouzas, 2025-10-01 Kashmir as a Borderland The Politics of Space and Belonging across the Line of Control examines the Kashmir dispute from both sides of the Line of Control LoC and within the theoretical frame of border studies It draws on the experiences of those living in these territories such as divided families traders cultural and social activists Kashmir is a borderland that is a context for spatial transformations where the resulting interactions can be read as a process of becoming rather than of being The analysis of this borderland shows how the conflict is manifested in territory in specific locations with a geopolitical meaning evidencing the discrepancy between representation and the living The author puts forward the concept of belonging as a useful category for investigating more inclusive political spaces

Film Style and the World War II Combat Genre Stuart Bender, 2014-08-11 Film Style and the World War II Combat Genre is a detailed examination of the stylistic means by which filmmakers depict stories of combat The work furthers contemporary discussions by analyzing a range of World War II combat films to a degree of detail which has previously escaped critical attention This substantial examination of cinematography sound editing and acting in a range of movies including Saving Private Ryan Windtalkers Bataan and Objective Burma demonstrates the importance of close attention to the textual construction of these films specifically as well as cinematic texts more generally The work advances the original analytic descriptions of controlled spontaneity and reported realism as theoretical concepts which explain why viewers regard certain stylistic techniques as realistic This notion of realism is then further understood through reference to a body of research in cognitive psychology to argue that the density of audio visual information in contemporary combat films is a significant factor in creating a sense of realism
