

The passage is an excerpt from a speech given by a member of the House of Representatives in 1846. The speaker is discussing the issue of slavery and the expansion of the United States. He argues that the United States should not expand into territories where slavery is already established, as this would be a betrayal of the principles of liberty and justice for all. He also argues that the United States should not expand into territories where slavery is not yet established, as this would be a betrayal of the principles of liberty and justice for all. The speaker concludes by stating that the United States should not expand at all, as this would be a betrayal of the principles of liberty and justice for all.

The Publishers Weekly, 1972-04 Directives 2019/790 et 2019/789 sur le droit d'auteur dans le marché unique numérique Nicolas Binctin, Xavier Près, 2021-08-04 Il s agit de proposer une mise en perspective d une directive qui a mobilisé la société civile et de nombreux débats parlementaires devant le parlement européen. L approche est à la fois académique et pratique en vue de contextualiser les apports du texte et contribuer à l'interprétation du droit interne des États membres après transposition. La directive fut l'objet de débats vifs d'opposition entre plusieurs forces sociales l'origine d'alliances parfois étranges notamment entre les GAFA et les libertaires défendant un Net gratuit. Le texte cristallise un instant de l'économie numérique appliquée à la création artistique. Dans le cadre de son travail l'Institut Stanislas de Boufflers a engagé un travail d'analyse de la directive pour permettre sa transposition en France. La première partie de ce travail l'analyse peut être publiée en tant que telle sans nécessairement prendre en compte les éléments de droit interne. Le texte a une vocation européenne et non française.
