Working under the umbrella of a large brokerage firm, certified financial planner Stephen Spicer began to see the flaws in the traditional advice he was supposed to give his clients. Unafraid to challenge the paradigms of a broken system, Stephen built Spicer Capital to share his own personal investment strategies, ones that directly address contemporary investment and financial planning concerns. In Stop Investing Like They Tell You, Stephen guides investors through a comprehensive understanding of the sixteen most egregious myths that get repeated throughout the financial industry. It is a master class in savvy investing with practical advice on how to protect and grow your life savings in today's chaotic ever-shifting market.

All the Money in the World Laura Vanderkam, 2012-03-01 How happy would you be if you had all the money in the world? The universal lament about money is that there is never enough. We spend endless hours obsessing over our budgets and investments, trying to figure out ways to stretch every dollar. We try to follow the advice of money gurus and financial planners, then kick ourselves whenever we spend too much or save too little. For all of the stress and effort we put into every choice, why are most of us unhappy about our finances? According to Laura Vanderkam, the key is to change your perspective. Instead of looking at money as a scarce resource, consider it a tool that you can use creatively to build a better life for yourself and the people you care about. For instance, the average couple spends 5,000 on engagement and wedding rings, making these pricey purchases largely because everyone else does. But what if you decided to spend 300 on rings and apply the rest to future date nights, weekend getaways, and thinking of your bouquets over the next ten years? In the long run, what would bring more joy to your marriage? Likewise, will owning a home with a pristine lawn and a two-car garage, the American Dream, really make you more satisfied? Or are you saving up for this investment just because financial planners tell you it's worth it? Vanderkam shows how each of us can figure out better ways to use what we have to build the lives we want. Drawing on the latest happiness research as well as the stories of dozens of real people, Vanderkam offers a contrarian approach that forces us to examine our own beliefs, goals, and values. Among her advice: Laugh at the Joneses. It's human nature to compare yourself to those around you, but you can create lifestyle happiness, your personal satisfaction, without copying your neighbors. Give yourself the best weekend ever. Studies show that experiences often bring more pleasure than material goods. With a little planning and creativity, you can give yourself a memorable
