

4. Method and Data:

Participants

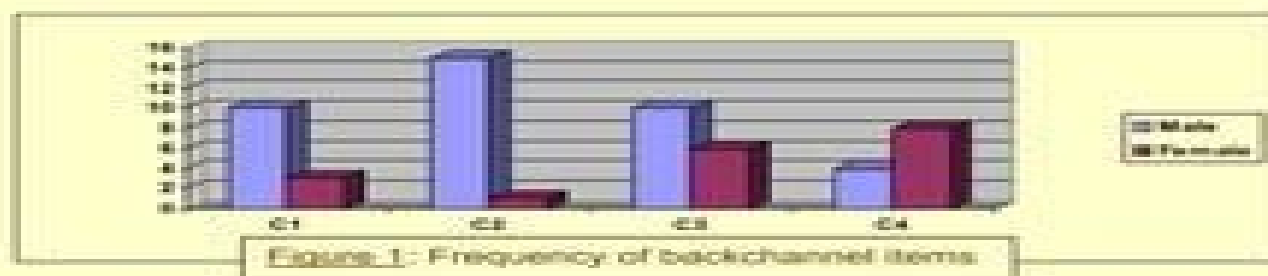

Ten participants (five males and five females) volunteered to participate in the study without any incentives offered. They formed five dyads of mix-sexed conversation. However, one dyad was dropped from the data analysis since they both did not follow the instruction and were highly aware of recording. The majority of participants were in their twenties or early thirties with an average of 29.1. The mean ages for the males and females were 30.0 and 28.2, respectively. These means were not statistically significant: $t(11,78) = -1.90$, $P > 0.05$. All the participants were recruited from English Department of University of Languages and International Studies (ULIS). Prior to this recruitment, the ethics approval was obtained from the University's Ethics Review Board. Since all the participants were the instructors and students of English in ULIS, their English proficiency was highly ensured. Additionally, they all had an IELTS score of band 5.5 or over at the time of recording.

Experimental Design and Procedure

A daily-topic-conversation design was applied under two conditions: over-the-phone and face-to-face conversations. All the participants were well informed about the recording and the purpose of data collection. An open atmosphere was created by a well-trained facilitator, which was supposed to mitigate the psychological confront by high awareness of recording. The bulk of recorded data proved to be of natural contribution except for the first two minutes since the participants were still well conscious about the tape-recorder. Therefore, all the data retrieved from the first-two-minute block was dropped from the data analysis. The targeted conversations were then transcribed and coded properly. In the first stage, all the backchannel items were counted and compared between dyads and the two sexes. Next, typical backchannel expressions in each sex were documented and then compared between the two genders. At the final stage, a discourse analysis (function-focused) was conducted to learn the level of supportiveness in these expressions.

5. Results: Discussion of Findings

Discussion of frequency of backchannel items between two sexes

It can be seen from Figure 1 that males prove to use more backchannel items than females, only except for the conversation 4. In addition, the ratio is rather high: 15 times in the conversation 2, over 3 times in the conversation 1, and nearly 2 times in the conversation 3. Meanwhile, the conversation 4 presents only two times of female's employment of backchannel items over that of the male. This result
