HUMAN ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY

Study of the structure and function of the human body

Anatomy

The scientific study of the structure of the human body

Physiology

The scientific study of the function of the human body

Structural levels

Also known as the levels of organization of the human body

- 1. Chemical level - study of the chemical composition of the body
- 2. Cellular level - study of the structure and function of cells
- 3. Tissue level - study of the structure and function of tissues
- 4. Organ level - study of the structure and function of organs
- 5. System level - study of the structure and function of body systems
- 6. Organism level - study of the structure and function of the whole body

CELLS AND TISSUES

Cells are the basic units of structure and function of the body

Organization of cellular levels

Cells are the basic units of structure and function of the body

Cells are organized into tissues, which are groups of similar cells that work together to perform a specific function

Tissues are organized into organs, which are structures made up of different tissues that work together to perform a specific function

Organs are organized into systems, which are groups of organs that work together to perform a specific function

Systems are organized into the whole body, which is the organism

The Epithelium - This is the outermost layer of the body. It is made up of cells that are arranged in layers. It is the first line of defense against the environment.

Connective tissue - This is the tissue that holds the body together. It is made up of cells that are arranged in a loose, fibrous network.

Blood - This is the fluid that carries oxygen and nutrients to the cells. It is made up of red blood cells, white blood cells, and platelets.

Muscle - This is the tissue that contracts to move the body. It is made up of long, cylindrical cells that are arranged in bundles.

Nerve - This is the tissue that carries electrical impulses. It is made up of long, thin cells that are arranged in bundles.
