

USING A MANNEQUIN

A mannequin (also called a model or dummy) for figure or dress design is an often articulated doll used for pattern making, dressmaking, costume design and fashion especially in display or in the classroom.

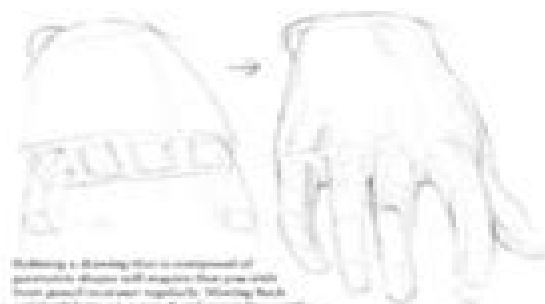

The artist/mannequin already handles some of the body's basic shapes, rounded, geometric shapes. The mannequin will have some degree of volume but it can be given your mannequin in different poses and poses drawing it. If you are taking a drawing lesson, it can be helpful to use a mannequin to practice specific poses that you find particularly difficult.

Of course, mannequins can become quite rigid, so they are not a substitute for practice on humans. One by one of the top and shoulder up of the figure can illustrate a full body or upper body pose.

PRACTICE DRAWING SHAPES

Commonly shapes of all kinds can be used to construct almost any complex object you want to draw. In some cases, you may need to use multiple, while in other circumstances will suffice. It's important to be creative when you're helped.

Building a drawing that is composed of geometric shapes will ensure that you start from a good foundation. Working back and forth between a pencil and your imagination is good practice. Once you start to draw hand and start to draw it into shape, you'll see how drawing the gesture, you can quickly bring the whole shape up together, adding in the details as you go. The drawing, moving from one pose to another, may spend some time in one pose.

DRAWING FEET

Using shapes to help you practice drawing feet is useful in practicing them from looking at.

Ensure you reach the bottom with a vertical line.

Remember your hand is not a flat plane. Think of what geometric shapes are facing one side of your hand, or a three-quarter angle.

Practice your position the ankle so that the heel and ball of the foot is higher than the rest of the foot. Now draw the position on the leg and foot.

DRAWING A HEAD STARTS WITH A CIRCLE, AN oval, AND A CROSS

They need to be positioned depending on where the face is located. There is more on this in the section on heads and facial expression.

- The circle represents the skull when the face is located.
- The oval is the front of the face and jaw.
- The cross is the middle of the ear, and the line of the ear and the position of the face when the face is.
- Another oval can be added to show the side of the head when the face is.
