Transforming Curriculum Through Teacher-Learner Partnerships Nair, Pradeep, Keppell, Michael James, Lim, Chee Leong, Mari, Tamil Salvi, Hassan, Nurhanim, 2020-12-11 Empowering learners for life requires a fundamental shift in higher education curriculum design. New priorities, pedagogies, technologies, spaces, and assessment strategies are required to enable learners to take ownership of their learning. Student-centeredness concepts are still prescriptive in nature as most decisions on curriculum, assessment, teaching, and learning approaches are still teacher-centric. Teachers are developing student-centered learning environments without the involvement of the learners in the planning, decision-making, and design process. In addition, some lecturers are still practicing the traditional approaches of content delivery and conventional assessment methods rather than experimenting with innovative practices suited for student-centered approaches. Therefore, there is an ongoing need for research focused on the importance and effectiveness of a paradigm shift in education that involves student-teacher partnerships fueled by innovative teaching and learning designs where students take an active role and contribute as partners in learning. Transforming Curriculum Through Teacher-Learner Partnerships captures experiences and evidence among teachers in exploring the possibility of active student participation in curriculum design, delivery, and assessment through teacher-learner partnership. The chapters address issues of teacher-learner partnerships in designing the learning environment and how student-centered methods create resilient, adaptable, and future-capable learners. While highlighting topics within this scope such as learner autonomy, learning performance, self-efficacy, and teaching pedagogy, this book is ideally intended for teachers, administrators, teacher educators, practitioners, stakeholders, researchers, academicians, and students interested in issues related to the teacher-learner partnership.

Abstract Mathematical Cognition Wolfgang Grodd,Philippe Chassy,2016-08-09 Despite the importance of mathematics in our educational systems little is known about how abstract mathematical thinking emerges Under the uniting thread of mathematical development we hope to connect researchers from various backgrounds to provide an integrated view of abstract mathematical cognition Much progress has been made in the last 20 years on how numeracy is acquired Experimental psychology has brought to light the fact that numerical cognition stems from spatial cognition The findings from neuroimaging and single cell recording experiments converge to show that numerical representations take place in the intraparietal sulcus Further research has demonstrated that supplementary neural networks might be recruited to carry out subtasks for example the retrieval of arithmetic facts is done by the angular gyrus Now that the neural networks in charge of basic mathematical cognition are identified we can move onto the stage where we seek to understand how these basics skills are used to support the acquisition and use of abstract mathematical concepts What Can PISA 2012 Data Tell Us? Lei Mee Thien,NORDIN ABD RAZAK,John Keeves,I GUSTI NGURAH DARMAWAN,2016-03-22 This is the first book regarding the issues of PISA that has been published with respect to the Southeast Asian region It is hoped that the content of this book can benefit and provide greater understanding for readers of several important aspects a country performance in PISA 2012 for each participating Southeast Asian country b the need for international comparative studies from the perspective at all levels of the teaching and learning process c equity and quality of education d how PISA impacts on policy making and e the initiatives and future directions and challenges to improve PISA performance in the future cycles of the PISA Studies The major issues raised in this book warrant investigation and reporting to all countries of the World including not only those countries that were engaged in PISA 2012 but also to the approximately 200 countries that are currently in the United Nations Organisation In these regards the readership of this book could be extended to the educators officers from the ministries of education researchers policy makers practising teachers lecturers in universities and teacher training institutions postgraduate students as well as both primary and secondary school principals and teachers Disha Combo (3
