Tom Wiener

Amazon Casino Royale Book:

Bezonomics Brian Dumaine, 2021-05-11 Jeff Bezos has become the era's biggest business story. At one point the richest man on the planet, Amazon's executive chairman has built one of the most efficient wealth creation machines in history with more than 2 percent of U.S. household income currently being spent on the hundreds of millions of products speedily shipped from the company's global warehouses. All this convenience, however, has a cost. Bezonomics promises massive job disruptions and the further infiltration of AI and Big Tech into our lives. In Bezonomics, award-winning Fortune magazine writer Brian Dumaine unveils the principles Bezos uses to gain increasing market power: customer obsession, extreme innovation, and long-term thinking, all driven by artificial intelligence, and shows how these tactics are being replicated by companies worldwide. If you want to know what the most unstoppable business model of the future will look like, this is a vital read. Film as

World Literature Robin Truth Goodman, 2025-10-16 Redefines the theoretical and thematic contents of world literature by considering it in connection with film. What gets lost when we understand film as essentially different from literature? What gets lost when we think of them essentially the same? Does the constructed difference between literature and film also create social and political exclusions, exclusions that may exacerbate class struggle or exclusions of certain ways of thinking the future? Film as World Literature seeks to undo disciplines and disciplinarity, the division between film and literature, indeed conceals the possibilities of world by bracketing out undisciplined parts. Contributors apply ideas of translatability and untranslatability not just as a linguistic exercise of transfers between language groups, cultures, and national origins but also as an approach to media and transfers between media. Is film a visual acknowledgement that literary language is by definition multilingual, that is, film a place where political conflicts, as Bakhtin observed, can be rendered visible? Chapters discuss film's relation to world literature not only by considering literary adaptations across nations, regions, languages, ideologies, and contexts but also by exploring film's intersections with literary theory, narrative, history, genre, and experimentation. Film as World Literature calls for recognition that while the category of world demands a radical defense in the face of risks to democracy, the world that literature and film combined bring forth must interrogate the conditions for a future politics of interaction, engagement, belonging, and difference. Enchanting a Disenchanted World George Ritzer, 2005

Megamalls, Restaurant chains, Elaborate casinos, Deluxe cruise ships, Enormous theme parks. Everywhere we turn, there is a new place being constructed in which to spend money. The Second Edition of Enchanting a Disenchanted World: Revolutionizing the Means of Consumption examines the development of these settings and many others like them in the last half century. Author George Ritzer takes a look at how a revolutionary change has occurred in the places in which we consume goods and services and how it has a profound effect not only on the nature of consumption but also on social life. In the process of taking capitalism to a new level, we have created new cathedrals of consumption, locales to which we make pilgrimages in order to practice our consumer religion. The book offers rich detail on consuming in places such as Las Vegas.

Disney World cruise ships Wal Mart and McDonald s all competing to outdo one another to see which one can put on the greatest show and lure the most consumers Enchanting a Disenchanted World is a unique analysis of the world of consumption examining how we are different consumers now than we were in the past both in the U S and around the world In the process of understanding this social development a wide range of theoretical perspectives including Marxian Weberian critical theory and postmodern theory are applied The book also looks at concepts such as hyperconsumption implosion time and space and simulation

Visual Storytelling in the 21st Century David Callahan,2024-10-14 This volume will explore varying contemporary strategies and examples of visual storytelling across several contemporary spheres from street art to video games from media for children to media for adults

from images in movement to static images It reads these storytelling venues in terms of the ethical itineraries that we live by or would like to live by or wish the world lived by In this sense it relates to the fact that the term narrative has become a ubiquitous shorthand for discursive dominance Observers of widely varying aspects of social life talk for example of changing the narrative claiming the narrative overhauling the narrative or owning the narrative While these general contexts are well known there remains a need to continually interrogate new examples of storytelling forms new cases of the uses of stories in differing formats and new stories in general This perpetual need is what this volume aims to respond to by way of its mixture of contemporary storytelling locations and exemplars

Noam, 2019-01-23 Being a successful manager or entrepreneur in the media and digital sector requires creativity innovation and performance It also requires an understanding of the principles and tools of management

Aimed at the college market this book is a short foundational volume on media management. It summarizes the major dimensions of a business school curriculum and applies them to the entire media, media tech, and digital sector. Its chapters cover in a jargonless, non-technical way the major functions of management: First, creating a media product, the financing of projects, and the management of technology, HR, production, operations, intellectual assets, and government relations. Second, harvesting the product, created market research, marketing, pricing, and distribution. And third, the control loop, media accounting, and strategy planning. In the process, this book becomes an indispensable resource for those aiming for a career in the media and digital field, both in startups and established organizations. This book is designed to help those aiming to join the media and digital sector to become creative managers and managerial creatives. It aims to make them more knowledgeable, less blinded by hype, more effective, and more responsible.
