Domesticating a Religious Import Nicholas M. Creary, 2011 Catholic theologians have developed the relatively new term inculturation to discuss the old problem of adapting the church universal to specific local cultures Europeans needed a thousand years to inculturate Christianity from its Judaic roots Africans efforts to make the church their own followed a similar process but in less than a century Until now there has been no book length examination of the Catholic church's pastoral mission in Zimbabwe or of African Christians efforts to inculturate the church Ranging over the century after Jesuit missionaries first settled in what is now Zimbabwe this enlightening book reveals two simultaneous and intersecting processes the Africanization of the Catholic Church by African Christians and the discourse of inculturation promulgated by the Church With great attention to detail it places the history of African Christianity within the broader context of the history of religion in Africa This illuminating work will contribute to current debates about the Catholic Church in Zimbabwe and throughout Africa

Rituals of Fertility and the Sacrifice of Desire Carol Ann Muller,1999 In this text Muller breaks new ground in the study of this changing region and along the way she includes details of her own poignant journey as a young white South African woman to the other side of a divided society
