316 Mining Investors From China To Usa:

The New Presence of China in Africa Meine Pieter Dijk, 2025-10-01 This book describes China's growing range of activities in Africa especially in the sub-Saharan region. The three most important instruments China has at its disposal in Africa are development aid, investments and trade policy. The Chinese government, which believes the Western development aid model has failed, is looking for new forms of aid and development in Africa. China's economic success can partly be ascribed to the huge availability of cheap labour which is primarily employed in export-oriented industries. China is looking for the required raw materials in Africa and for new marketplaces. Investments are being made on a large scale in Africa by Chinese state-controlled firms and private companies particularly in the oil-producing countries Angola, Nigeria and Sudan and countries rich in minerals Zambia. Third, the trade policy China is conducting is analysed in China and compared with that of Europe and the United States. In case studies the specific situation in several African countries is examined. In Zambia the mining industry, construction and agriculture are described. One case study of Sudan deals with the political presence of China in Sudan and the extent to which Chinese arms suppliers contributed to the current crisis in Darfur. The possibility of Chinese diplomacy offering a solution in that conflict is discussed. The conclusion considers whether social responsibility can be expected of the Chinese government and companies and if this is desirable and to what extent the Chinese model in Africa can act as an example or not for the West.

The international contributors explore the historical, political, economic, military and international and regional spheres of the US-China relationship. The topics they discuss include human rights, Chinese public perception of the United States, US-China strategic rivalry, China's defence build-up and cyber war.

China, The United States, and the Future of Latin America David Denoon, 2017-10-24 Provides insight into US and Chinese involvement in aid, trade, direct investment and strategic ties in Latin America. In recent years China has become the largest trading partner for more than half the countries in Latin America and demonstrated major commitments in aid and direct investment in various parts of the region. China has also made a number of strategic commitments to countries like Nicaragua, Cuba and Venezuela which have long-standing policies opposing US influence in the region. China, the United States and the Future of Latin America posits that this activity is a direct challenge to the role of the US in Latin America and the Caribbean. Part of a three-volume series analyzing US-China relations in parts of the world where neither country is dominant, this volume analyzes the interactions between the US, China and Latin America. The book series has so far considered the differences in operating styles between China and the US in Central Asia and Southeast Asia. This third volume unpacks the implications of competing U S and Chinese interests in countries such as Brazil and Argentina and China's commitments in Nicaragua and Venezuela This volume draws upon a variety of policy experts focusing on the viewpoints of South American and Caribbean scholars as well as scholars from outside states China's new global reach and its ambitions as well as the U S response are analyzed in detail A nuanced examination of current complexities and future implications China the United States and the Future of Latin America provides readers with varied perspectives on the changing economic and strategic picture in Latin America and the Caribbean
