

10th Grade English Final Exam Essay Prompts

Be prepared to write two or three five-paragraph essays from the following nine topics. The quotes provided are to get you started thinking (and will be provided on the test). As you prepare, please gather further evidence from the text to support your argument.

1. The Pursuit of Happiness

Mond, the Controller, says that in this world there are no losses to compensate for; youthful desires never falter, minds and bodies continue to delight in activity, and soma takes care of any problems. While this may sound like paradise, can a man really know that he is happy if he has never been unhappy? The Savage says, "Nothing costs enough here."

Compare with

Frankenstein: When asking Victor to make him a companion, the monster says, "Make me happy, and I shall again be virtuous." What is the novel saying about an individual's need to be loved?

2. Seeking peace

A Separate Peace: "I think we reminded [the Devon faculty] of what peace was like, we boys of sixteen. We registered with no draft board, we had taken no physical examinations. We were carefree and wild, and I suppose we could be thought of as a sign of the life the war was being fought to preserve."

3. Traveling towards delusion

Describe the descent into madness of Lady Macbeth and Leper; the causes and effects

Lady Macbeth:

"A little water clears us of this deed. How easy it is then!" and "Out damn'd spot!"

Leper:

"One day I couldn't make out what was happening to the corporal's face. It kept changing into faces from somewhere else, and then I began to think he looked like me, and the he...he changed into a woman, I was looking at him as close as I'm looking at you and his face turned into a woman's face and I started to yell for everybody, I began to yell so that everyone would see it too...but I couldn't yell soon enough, or loud enough, and when somebody did finally come up to me, it was this man with the cough who slept in the next cot, and he was holding a broom because we had been sweeping out the barracks, but I saw right away that it wasn't a broom, it was a man's leg which had been cut off."

4. Doubles

Be prepared to write an essay comparing and contrasting at least three of the following four pairs:

Charles Darnay and Sidney Carton
Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde
Frankenstein and the monster
Gene and Finny

EAL Research for the Classroom Gavin Brooks, Jon Clenton, Simon Fraser, 2023-06-27 With an estimated 1.6 million English as an Additional Language (EAL) learners in the UK and over 5 million in the USA, EAL research is urgently needed to inform practice. This edited volume investigates the multifaceted elements that shape EAL pedagogy and research in a variety of settings and research areas, including linguistic ability influences on subject-specific skills, integrating learners' home languages into classroom environments, and the importance of supporting EAL teachers in the classroom. In doing so, the contributors provide an international perspective on the emerging field of EAL research. The research-based chapters detail fundamental concerns related to EAL learner education. The text is composed of five parts. Part I explores the question of what is EAL and how a definition can shape policy construction. Part II examines the challenges EAL learners face in the classroom, including the use of first languages and the relative impact learner language proficiency has on subject-specific classes. Part III discusses the challenges involved with preparing learners to study in an EAL environment. Part IV investigates concerns relating to supporting EAL teachers in the classroom, and Part V brings together the insights from the previous chapters and provides a road map for future research in the field. The volume draws on researcher expertise from a variety of universities and institutions worldwide. It explores diverse language backgrounds in multilingual contexts. It covers empirical studies with pedagogical policy and further research implications. The volume represents a single resource invaluable for EAL teachers, trainers, and trainees, as well as researchers in education, language learning, and teaching bilingualism and multilingualism and second language acquisition.

The Theory and Practice of Grading Writing Frances Zak, Christopher C. Weaver, 1998-02-05 CHOICE 1998 Outstanding Academic Books. Grading is one of the thorniest issues writing teachers must deal with, yet surprisingly little has been written on this topic. As writing teachers move increasingly toward practices that focus on writing as a process, they face a growing need to reconsider their systems of grading to determine whether or not these systems support their pedagogies The authors interrogate the grading of individual papers as well as portfolios and the assigning of end of term grades This collection explores the issues and problems that have emerged as conventional grading practices have lagged behind and been challenged by new theories of language While the book will be of interest to theorists Zak and Weaver have also made the book relevant and useful to teachers whose primary interest is the practical consequences of theory in their classrooms Where theoretical discussion takes place the language is clear and accessible Many of the authors write directly from personal experience telling stories of the classroom or writing of new techniques and approaches they have tried They speak with the voices of teachers and the tone and content of their words convey a sense of the immediacy of the topic
