Letter to Students and Families

Dear Students and Families,

Welcome to 10th Grade World Literature! I am excited to embark on this learning journey with you. This course is designed not only to explore powerful stories from around the world but also to connect these stories to the lives, cultures, and voices of today's students—including your own.

About the Course

World Literature invites us to see the world through the eyes of others. From ancient myths and classic tragedies to contemporary global texts, we will explore the human condition of universal identity, power, justice, resistance, and the human condition across cultures and time periods. This curriculum is rooted in culturally responsive teaching, meaning we will honor and engage with diverse perspectives while encouraging students to bring their own experiences and insights into our classroom community.

Our Classroom Model

Flexible Classroom Structure (Typical Week)

| Day | In-Class (Typical)                                           | At-Home (Engaging Application)                          |
|-----|--------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------|
| Mon | Warm-ups, introductions, read assigned chapter or short text | Read assigned chapter or short text                     |
| Tue | Complete guided annotation on journaling                     | Collaborative activities, class meeting                 |
| Wed | Read assigned text excerpt or related video                  | Group project work, creative activities                 |
| Thu | Read or video to paired global/modern text                   | Creative application performance, media project         |
| Fri | Reflective writing or peer review                            | Write/record activities, group projects or gallery walk |

This course will follow a flexible classroom model, which means that direct instruction—such as mini-lessons, background content, or reading assignments—will typically happen at home, allowing us to use our class time for deeper exploration, student projects, creative expression, and briefly explain class values, agreed norms, and expectations. We will expect students to look over the syllabus and be excited about or curious about the course.
