This paper shall attempt to take a closer look as to what the implications of implementing such laws are, with scrutiny of these laws as enacted in the state of Michigan. Various statistics shall be presented to highlight the advantages and disadvantages of using such laws in a state. The paper shall discuss the various issues that Michigan has faced in regards to these laws and will come up with some solutions and recommendations for the state of Michigan on whether it should continue to implement these rules or repeal from them.

Many jurisdictions, including that of the federal government, set the prevailing wages exactly at or very near to those that are demanded by the laborers according to the union-scale. “Prevailing wage laws, then, force contractors on government construction or other projects to pay their employees at the same rate as unionized members of the relevant occupation—whether it be bricklayers, carpenters, electricians, or other categories of workers—even if non-union contractors could perform the same work less expensively by paying their workers lower but mutually agreed-upon wages” (Vedder 1997). The governments usually use a very complex and intricate method to set these prevailing wages, “but because of the large number of distinct

Katz, 2009-01-21 Observations Plus Recipes It has been said that science is the orderly collection of facts about the natural world Scientists however are wary of using the word fact Fact has the feeling of absoluteness and universality whereas scientific observations are neither absolute nor universal For example children have 20 deciduous baby teeth is an observation about the real world but scientists would not call it a fact Some children have fewer deciduous teeth and some have more Even those children who have exactly 20 deciduous teeth use the full set during only a part of their childhood When they are babies and toddlers children have less than 20 visible teeth and as they grow older children begin to lose their deciduous teeth which are then replaced by permanent teeth Children have 20 deciduous baby teeth is not even a complete scientific statement For one thing the statement children have 20 deciduous teeth does not tell us what we mean by teeth When we say teeth do we mean only those that can be seen by the unaided eye or do we also include the hidden unerupted teeth An observation such as children have 20 deciduous teeth is not a fact and by itself it is not acceptable as a scientific statement until its terms are explained scientifically children have 20 deciduous teeth must be accompanied by definitions and qualifiers
