Gross Anatomy and Basic Function of the Endocrine Glands

- Both the endocrine and nervous systems are major regulating systems of the body; however, the nervous system has been compared to a text message, and the endocrine system to mailing a letter. Briefly explain this comparison.

Nervous system controls homeostasis through nerve impulses, it generates transmit electrical impulses less than a second in order for muscle, tissue, gland to contract. Endocrine system takes time to release hormones into bloodstream and reaches the destination.

- Define hormone. Hormones are chemical substances that regulate the internal environment, metabolism, energy balance & production.
- Chemically, hormones belong chiefly to two molecular groups, the water-soluble hormones and the steroid & lipid soluble hormones.
- Define target cell. A cell that has receptors to recognize/respond to a given hormone
- If hormones travel in the bloodstream, why don't all tissues respond to all hormones? because hormones can only bind with specific receptors of the target cell
- Identify the endocrine organ described by each of the following statements.

Thyroid gland

- located in the anterior neck; produces key hormones for metabolism

Hypothalamus

- produces the hormones that are stored in the posterior pituitary

Pancreas

- a mixed gland, located behind the stomach and close to the small intestine

Testes

- paired glands suspended in the scrotum

Pituitary

- bilobed gland located in the sella turcica

Ovaries

- found in the pelvic cavity of the female, concerned with ova and female hormone production

Thyroid

- found in the upper thorax overlying the heart; large during youth

Pineal

- found in the roof of the third ventricle of the brain
