1. The first step in solving a system of linear equations is to write the equations in slope-intercept form. This allows you to compare the slopes of the lines. If the slopes are different, the lines are not parallel and the system has one solution. If the slopes are the same, the lines are either parallel (no solution) or coincident (infinitely many solutions). To determine if the lines are parallel, coincident, or have one solution, you can compare the slopes and y-intercepts of the lines. If the slopes are different, the lines are not parallel and the system has one solution. If the slopes are the same, the lines are either parallel (no solution) or coincident (infinitely many solutions). To determine if the lines are parallel, coincident, or have one solution, you can compare the slopes and y-intercepts of the lines.
