2003 Sats Writing Task Ks1:

The Learning and Teaching of Reading and Writing Naomi Flynn, Rhona Stainthorpe, 2006-07-11 This book provides a unique description of teacher pupil interaction during the Literacy Hour in good schools. It is based on detailed observations in inner city primary schools that were recognised as effective and improving. The analysis is informed by contemporary research into the development and teaching of early literacy. The book provides practice based examples of how teachers and schools might adapt their delivery for literacy as they move to greater creativity in their teaching of reading and writing. The analysis begins within the classrooms of three expert Key Stage 1 teachers and broadens out into the wider setting of the schools and their senior management teams. An important theme running throughout the book is how the three teachers were able to make exceptional provision for their pupils who were largely second language speakers and from socio economically disadvantaged groups. The teachers' successful practice grew from their understanding of both early literacy development and planning for individual need. The information in this book will enable student teachers, recently qualified teachers and teachers interested in enhancing their literacy teaching to develop their practice in a similarly successful way. The Linguistic Challenge of the Transition to Secondary School Alice Deignan, Duygu Candarli, Florence Oxley, 2022-12-30 This book provides a unique analysis and description of the linguistic challenges faced by school students as they move from primary to secondary school, a major transition which some students struggle with emotionally and academically. The study draws on a bespoke corpus of 2.5 million words of written materials and transcribed classroom recordings provided by the project's partner schools. It combines quantitative and qualitative approaches to the corpus data to explore linguistic variation across school levels, registers and subjects, describes the procedures of corpus compilation and analysis of written and spoken academic language, showing how modern corpus tools can be applied to this far-reaching social and educational issue. It uncovers differences and similarities between the academic language that school children are exposed to at primary and secondary school, contrasting this against the backdrop of the non-academic language that they encounter outside school. This book is important reading for advanced students and researchers in corpus linguistics, applied linguistics and teacher education. It carries implications for policymakers and schools looking to support students at this critical point in their schooling.
