Accessibility and Diversity in Education: Breakthroughs in Research and Practice Management Association, Information Resources, 2019-12-06 Education is a necessary foundation for improving one's livelihood in today's society However traditional learning has often excluded or presented a challenge to students with visual physical or cognitive disabilities and can create learning gaps between students of various cultures It is vital that learning opportunities are tailored to meet individual needs regardless of individual disabilities gender race or economic status in order to create more inclusive educational practices Accessibility and Diversity in Education

Breakthroughs in Research and Practice examines emerging methods and trends for creating accessible and inclusive educational environments and examines the latest teaching strategies and methods for promoting learning for all students. It also addresses equal opportunity and diversity requirements in schools. Highlighting a range of topics such as open educational resources, student diversity and inclusion barriers, this publication is an ideal reference source for educators, principals, administrators, provosts, deans, curriculum developers, instructional designers, school boards, higher education faculty, academicians, students, and researchers.

Augustus Short Michael Whiting, 2018-02-28 Augustus Short arrived in Adelaide in late 1847 as the first Anglican Bishop of Adelaide; he was forty-five years old, married to Millicent, and they had five children. He was to remain in office for thirty-four years and departed for retirement to England in his eightieth year, much lauded as a distinguished colonist. This volume, a companion to Augustus Short and the Founding of the University of Adelaide published in 2014, explores Short's life before arriving in South Australia, his education at Westminster School and at Christ Church, Oxford. An outstanding scholar, Short was ordained a priest of the Church of England in 1827 and taught at Christ Church before serving eleven years in a rural parish in Northamptonshire. Many of the courageous and innovative ideas Short practised as Bishop of Adelaide had their origins in his education and were influenced by those he studied with Bishop Thomas Vowler Short, Bishop Charles Lloyd Edward Bouverie Pusey, and John Henry Newman, among others. Short's first forty-five years were dominated by Christ Church, and this is equally a story of that enduring community of learning and worship as it shaped Short's beliefs and choices in life.

Modeling and Forecasting of Staffing in Civil Aviation Anzhela Borzova, Yuri Chinyuchin, Vadim Vorobyov, Dmitry Zatuchny, 2022-12-12 This book highlights issues related to the organization and improvement of the efficiency of training systems in the technical operation of radio electronic equipment currently used in civil aviation. The increasing intensity of air traffic around the world leads to a quantitative increase in old problems and the emergence of qualitatively new ones that can only be solved by trained people whose training process should be carried out on a systematic basis. Modern approaches to improving the human resources potential of civil aviation as a rule are based only on modernizing the management mechanisms of the training system. One of the main advantages of this book is the unique integrated approach to building a system for training aviation personnel in the field of technical operation of radio electronic equipment and air traffic control, which consists in taking into account various factors that affect the training of specialists, promising areas of development of civil aviation based on the analysis of various guidance documents and the construction of mathematical models that give a qualitative assessment of existing methods and the proposed new methodology. The book contains a large amount of visual illustrative material showing the existing structure of the system of training in the field of civil aviation.
