Plato's Phædo, a tr., by A.E. Blagrove and C.S. Fearenside Plato, 1890 Computational Chemistry Errol G. Lewars, 2024-06-04 This is the fourth edition of the successful textbook on computational chemistry which continues to provide a comprehensive introduction to the theory and practice of computational chemistry. Notable updates include a review of references up to mid 2023 encompassing recent developments in scientific journals, books and software. The evolving prominence of density functional theory (DFT) is emphasized and attention is given to the increasing application of artificial intelligence in computational chemistry. The book maintains key features from the previous edition, delving into the mathematical intricacies of ab initio and density functional methods at an introductory level. Clear explanations of matrix methods are provided, offering a direct approach to obtaining energy levels and molecular orbitals. Additionally, each chapter includes sets of Easier and Harder drill questions with suggested answers at the end of the book, enhancing the learning experience. The book is intended for upper year undergraduate and graduate students studying computational and theoretical chemistry, and for self-study by researchers in universities and industry to whom computational chemistry may be useful.

Computers in Chemical Education and Research E. Ludena, 2013-03-09 The impact of computers on all realms of Chemistry has been one of the most important factors in the development of this science during the last years. In recognition of this fact, in 1971 the First International Conference on Computers in Chemical Research and Education was held at DeKalb, Illinois, USA. A second Conference took place in Ljubljana, Yugoslavia, in 1973, and this third Conference in Caracas, Venezuela, in 1976.
