Treatment of Psychiatric Disorders Among Older Adults Rajesh R. Tampi, Deena J. Tampi, 2024-05-20 This timely book provides detailed information regarding the latest treatment for psychiatric disorders among the growing population of older adults. The World Health Organization reports that between 2015 and 2050 the proportion of the world's older adults 60 years will double from about 12% to almost 22% of the total population and it is estimated that approximately 20% of older adults have a diagnosable psychiatric disorder. Many of these older adults are prescribed psychotropic medications but these treatments can result in significant functional decline, cognitive decline, cerebrovascular adverse events, and death. The editors, in collaboration with fellow experts in geriatric psychiatry, provide the scientific background regarding the treatment of a range of psychiatric disorders among older adults. The volume features a comprehensive table of contents covering a range of psychiatry subtopics such as neurocognitive disorders, depressive disorders, substance use disorders, and anxiety disorders. Each chapter adheres to the same easy-to-follow format and, amongst other information, includes evidence-based assessments, non-pharmacological and pharmacological therapies, potential side effects, and their treatments, and evidence-based treatment algorithms for each disorder. Treatment of Psychiatric Disorders Among Older Adults will be a valuable resource for psychiatrists, geriatricians, students, neurologists, advance practice nurses, psychologists, social workers, occupational therapists, physical therapists, and dietitians who care for older adults with mental health disorders.

Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications, 1951 Executive Functions in Psychiatric Disorders Leandro Fernandes Malloy-Diniz, Débora Marques de Miranda, Rodrigo Grassi-Oliveira, 2017-10-17 Executive Functions comprise a range of neuropsychological processes related to intentional behavior and cognitive control. There are several theoretical models defining and explaining the concept of Executive Functions. Most of these models consider that the term Executive Functions encompasses cognitive processes as working memory, cognitive flexibility, inhibitory control, and other complex functions as planning, problem solving, and abstract reasoning. Other models argue that motivational and emotional functions such as affective decision making reside under the concept of Executive Function. Much evidence supports how complex cognitive functions are related to the physiological activity of brain networks including the frontal cortex and its connections with subcortical structures. Several psychiatric disorders related to impairment in these brain networks, e.g., bipolar disorder, schizophrenia, ADHD, obsessive compulsive disorder, and drug addiction, leading to deficits in Executive Functions. These cognitive deficits affect patients' everyday functioning, worsening the clinical course of the disease. For example, deficits in Executive Functions are related to suicide behavior in bipolar disorder patients. Furthermore, these deficits also relate to obesity, a lack of adherence to treatment, and underperformance in the workplace and educational settings. The understanding of the role of deficits in Executive Functions, including its neurobiological basis, developmental trajectories, and relationship with clinical outcomes, is fundamental to improve clinical management of psychiatric patients.

This research topic includes 13 articles with interdisciplinary contributions related to the understanding of the deficits in Executive Functions and its relationship with clinical manifestations in psychiatric disorders A Human-Centered Perspective of Intelligent Personalized Environments and Systems Bruce Ferwerda, Mark Graus, Panagiotis Germanakos, Marko Tkalčič, 2024-04-30 This book investigates the potential of combining the more quantitative data driven techniques with the more qualitative theory driven approaches towards the design of user centred intelligent systems It seeks to explore the potential of incorporating factors grounded in psychological theory into adaptive intelligent routines mechanisms technologies and innovations It highlights models methods and tools that are emerging from their convergence along with challenges and lessons learned Special emphasis is placed on promoting original insights and paradigms with respect to latest technologies current research trends and innovation directions e g incorporating variables derived from psychological theory and individual differences in adaptive intelligent systems so as to increase explainability fairness and transparency and decrease bias during interactions while the control remains with the user Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications, Cumulative Index United States. Superintendent of Documents, 1978 Publishers' circular and booksellers' record, 1849 Passionate Work Renyi Hong, 2022-04-04 In Passionate Work Renyi Hong theorizes the notion of being passionate about your work as an affective project that encourages people to endure economically trying situations like unemployment job change repetitive and menial labor and freelancing Not simply a subject of aspiration passion has been deployed as a means to build resilience and mend disappointments with our experiences of work Tracking the rise of passion in nineteenth century management to trends like gamification coworking and unemployment insurance Hong demonstrates how passion can emerge in instances that would not typically be understood as passionate Gamification numbs crippling boredom by keeping call center workers in an unthinking suspensive state pursuing even the most banal tasks in hope of career advancement Coworking spaces marketed toward freelancers combat loneliness and disconnection at the precise moment when middle class sureties are profoundly threatened Ultimately Hong argues the ideal of passionate work sustains a condition of cruel optimism in which passion is offered as the solution for the injustices of contemporary capitalism Biology and Evolution of the Mollusca, Volume 1 Winston Frank Ponder, David R.
