Advice for Young People or School Leavers
on Becoming a Veterinary Nurse

What Veterinary Nurses Do

Veterinary nurses provide care and support for animals when they get sick. (DF 6) They have to handle animals and carry out a number of clinical duties (DF 6, TS 14), including minor surgical procedures (DF 6), dental cleaning (DF 6) and taking blood from an animal correctly (TS 15).

Professional Qualities Veterinary Nurses Need

Good communication skills are very important since veterinary nurses may have to talk to people and perform duties like answering clients' emails apart from interacting with animals (TS 12). Veterinary nurses need to know how to handle animals properly too (TS 13). They should like animals and be interested in them (TS 11).

Qualifications and Future Prospects

To be a qualified veterinary nurse, you will have to attend programmes that train you in all the skills necessary for the occupation (DF 5). You will have to study communication, which includes an internship (DF 5). Graduates from the qualification courses may be placed as a veterinary nurse in a specialized field, such as in a horse clinic (DF 5). A full-time degree, diploma and certificate programmes are available for your selection (DF 5). If you are still uncertain about your choice, you can choose to complete the diploma course first (DF 5). After that, you can study full-time to become a vet (DF 5).

Challenges Encountered by Veterinary Nurses

Veterinary nurses often face various challenges. They have to learn not to be nervous with animals (DF 6). Shift work is another challenge to cope with because veterinary nurses are required to work on call at night (DF 6). Moreover, veterinary nurses need to develop a strategy to overcome their personal sorrow when a sick animal dies (DF 6). Each and every of the above challenges can be very tough.

Task 9 Speech

Virtual Pets and their Elderly Owners

Ladies and Gentlemen,

Good morning everyone! Welcome to the open day of the Kowloon Exotic Pets Hospital. I am Kerry Lam, the manager of the hospital. Today, I am honoured to be here to give a speech on virtual pets.

According to Kohonen et al., a virtual pet is defined as "a digital application which simulates online the experience of having a real pet." (DF 7) With increasingly widespread and cheaper access to the internet, virtual pets have become increasingly popular (DF 7). According to the statistics from Online Today magazine, virtual pet owners are mainly those aged under 18 and over 65, which accounted for 37% and 26% of the total number of interviewees in the survey respectively (DF 4). It can be seen that a significant large percentage of users are over 65.

People own virtual pets because of different reasons. For instance, some of the elderly make use of virtual pets to keep their minds active as they get older (DF 5). Some elderly users are taught by their grandchildren how to use the computer and then how to have a virtual pet (DF 7). Apart from that, people also get virtual pets as a kind of compensation since they are prohibited from owning a real pet in their apartment building (DF 7).

Old people use virtual pets in different ways. Some of the elderly spend time breeding different kinds of animals online. For example, there are old people operating an extensive breeding exchange programme for virtual birds on the internet and swap them for other birds they haven't got (DF 8). Some collect virtual horses to develop a virtual ranch on the web (DF 8). Some also use their online accounts on different virtual pet websites to breed virtual cats (DF 8), or even cross-breed animals to create super pets (DF 5). Some even make money by selling the virtual pets to other online breeders. For the retired elderly, this income can be very useful.

The many features of virtual pets have certainly contributed a lot to its rising popularity among the aged. Many people are becoming interested in this kind of online activity and it is expected that the rising trend of virtual pet usage will continue. Our website is going to introduce a new page about virtual pets (DF 4).

The Supporting Role of Logistics during the Early Stage of Retail Internationalisation Linnea Haag, 2019-03-08 Retail internationalisation refers to the establishment of retailers into foreign sales markets and is an important success factor for many retail chains Logistics has been acknowledged as an important prerequisite and key component of retail internationalisation enabling physical distribution to new foreign markets as well as ensuring customer satisfaction in terms of on time delivery and product availability Despite the recognition of logistics logistics managers struggle to adapt their logistics organisation and operations in order to efficiently and effectively support retail internationalisation due to the complexity of operating in multiple markets Previous research seldom mentions how logistics supports retail internationalisation especially when retail chains are at the beginning of their retail internationalisation journey By exploring the supporting role of logistics during the early stage of retail internationalisation retailers can better understand how logistics organisation and operations can be organised in order to successfully expand into foreign sales markets Therefore the purpose of this licentiate thesis is to Explore the supporting role of logistics during the early stage of retail internationalisation This licentiate thesis is based on an abductive multiple case study approach that combines empirical data with literature in an iterative process in order to explore the supporting role of logistics during the early stage of retail internationalisation. The selected case companies were three large sized Swedish retail chains that have recently established themselves into nearby foreign sales markets. The findings of this licentiate thesis suggest that logistics plays both a reactive and a proactive supporting role during the early stage of retail internationalisation. The reactive supporting role refers to logistics that adapts to predetermined conditions set by the retail company's top management team. As a reactive supporter, the logistics organisation is typically involved at an operational level and scales up its logistics operations in order to supply multiple markets. Beyond its reactive role, logistics can also play a proactive supporting role. This refers to its involvement at a strategic level within the retail company where it can influence the conditions of retail internationalisation. When logistics is involved more proactively, its operations can become better aligned with the other company operations involved in retail internationalisation. Furthermore, proactive logistics support enables more efficient and effective logistics that can better cope with increased complexity as well as more effectively keeping track of logistics costs. In addition to these findings, the importance of top management has been identified as a key aspect of proactive logistics support. More specifically, logistics competence within the top management team enables logistics to be prioritised at a strategic level and to be better integrated during retail internationalisation, including during individual establishments into new markets. The findings also suggest that the importance of logistics increases over time during retail internationalisation. The more markets the retailer enters, the more important efficient logistics becomes in order to deal with both complexity and logistics costs. By involving proactive logistics from the start of retail internationalisation, retail chains can more efficiently and effectively establish into and operate within foreign sales markets, which in turn supports a sustainable retail internationalisation. One of the main academic contributions of this licentiate thesis has been to study logistics in the specific context of retail internationalisation, which has previously not been researched in any great detail. In addition, logistics has often been studied as a static aspect, but in this thesis it is studied from a dynamic perspective in order to understand how its supporting role changes over time during the early stage of retail internationalisation. Another important contribution is that the role of logistics has been studied from both a strategic and an operational level, as previous research has mostly focused on the strategic level of logistics related to retail internationalisation. In terms of practical contributions, this licentiate thesis clarifies the logistics characteristics and supply chain capabilities that support the early stage of retail internationalisation. This licentiate thesis can also help practitioners to better prepare their logistics organisation and logistics operations for a future retail internationalisation, as well as helping them to avoid making logistical mistakes during the early stage of retail internationalisation.
