Reading the Self: Print Technologies, Authorship, And Identity Formation In The Eighteenth-Century Marketplace Roy

Bearden-White,2017-06-24 At one major publishing house there is a running joke that the second book published on the Gutenberg press was about the death of the publishing business While this joke is an obvious exaggeration there is a certain amount of truth that with each advance in technology with each printing innovation or invention a similar death dynamic occurred This was most noticeable during the tumultuous years of the eighteenth century when a veritable flood of printing techniques business practices reading formats and sources for reading material was introduced The cultural reaction to each new technological change while not exactly the same in all respects exhibited a series of characteristics that closely mirrored each other In each case readers reacted in various ways against the innovation and supported the traditional publishing industry and in their reaction created modified and maintained a sense of their own identity

Women and Literacy Beth Daniell,Peter Mortensen,2020-08-17 Path breaking research on women and literacy in the past decade established conventions and advanced innovative methods that push the making of knowledge into new spheres of inquiry Taking these accomplishments as a point of departure this volume emphasizes the diversity of approaches and subjects that characterizes the next generation of research on women and literacy It builds on and critiques scholarship in literacy studies composition studies rhetorical theory gender studies postcolonial theory and cultural studies to open new venues for future research Contributors discuss what literacy is more precisely what literacies are but their strongest interest is in documenting and theorizing women s lived experience of these literacies with particular attention to the diversity of women s literacies within the U S including but not limited to the varying relations that exist among women literacy economic position class race sexuality and education relations among women literacy and economic contexts in the U S and abroad including but not limited to changes in women s private and domestic literacies the evolution of technologies of literacy and women s experience of the commodification of literacies and emergent roles of women and literacy in a globally interdependent world This broad significant work is a must read for researchers and graduate students across the fields of literacy studies composition studies rhetorical theory and gender studies

Silence and Acts of Memory Birgit Maier-Katkin,2007 This book explores silence and memory in Germany s ongoing discourse about the Nazi past It examines the ways in which exile literature and critical thought by Anna Seghers joins postwar discourse and current historical research to formulate an acceptable memory of private life during the Third Reich Seghers work is particularly relevant in light of a postwar rift between private and public memory discourse Her texts The Seventh Cross The Excursion of the Dead Girls and especially her depictions of female figures offer a rare in depth examination of ordinary life under Hitler From exile Seghers reveals hidden voices and personal experience with the Nazi regime that linger in the silenced voids of history Silence and Acts of Memory reconnects private and public discourse about traumatic events of the Nazi past the book contributes valuable insights to the current discourse about the continuing formative process of German national identity Birgit Maier Katkin is an Associate Professor of German at the Florida State University
