University Community Engagement and Lifelong Learning Julia Preece, 2017-07-13 This book offers a conceptual re-think of how university community engagement functions as a lifelong learning resource for communities. While having a specific focus on the South African context, it has important implications for other universities which are concerned with their communities and makes a compelling argument for the university as a public good in spite of current trends towards marketization and commodification of higher education. The book draws on a theoretical framework of capabilities asset-based community development and the adult learning concept of dialogue to propose a model whereby the boundary walls of the university become metaphorically porous so that community members feel free to interact with the university as equal members of society. A historical outline of African universities is provided as well as an exploration of the evolution of terms for community engagement, service learning and learning cities and an examination of the policy and practice implications for the ideological model of a porous university.

#RhodesMustFall B. Nyamnjoh, 2016-04-18 This book on rights, entitlements and citizenship in post-apartheid South Africa shows how the playing field has not been as levelled as presumed by some and how racism and its benefits persist. Through everyday interactions and experiences of university students and professors, it explores the question of race in a context still plagued by remnants of apartheid inequality and perceptions of inferiority and inadequacy among the majority black population. In education, black voices and concerns go largely unheard as circles of privilege are continually regenerated and added onto a layered and deep history of cultivation of black pain. These issues are examined against the backdrop of organised student protests sweeping through the country's universities with a renewed clamour for transformation around a rallying cry of Black Lives Matter. The nuanced complexity of this insightful analysis of the Rhodes Must Fall movement elicits compelling questions about the attractions and dangers of exclusionary articulations of belonging. What could a grand imperialist like the stripling Uitlander or foreigner of yesteryear Sir Cecil John Rhodes possibly have in common with the present-day nimble-footed makwerekwere from Africa north of the Limpopo? The answer Nyamnjoh suggests is to be found in how human mobility relentlessly tests the boundaries of citizenship.

Decolonisation in Universities Jonathan Jansen, 2019-08-01 In this collection of case studies and stories from the field, South African scholars come together to trade stories on how to decolonise the university. Shortly after the giant bronze statue of Cecil John Rhodes came down at the University of Cape Town, student protestors called for the decolonisation of universities. It was a word hardly heard in South Africa's struggle lexicon and many asked: What exactly is decolonisation? This edited volume brings together the best minds in curriculum theory to address this important question. In the process, several critical questions are raised: Is decolonisation simply a slogan for addressing other pressing concerns on campuses and in society? What is the colonial legacy with respect to curriculum and can it be undone? How is the project of curriculum decolonisation similar to or different from the quest for postcolonial knowledge, indigenous knowledge or a critical theory of knowledge What does decolonisation mean in a digital age where relationships between knowledge and power are shifting The book combines strong conceptual analyses with novel case studies of attempts to do decolonisation in settings as diverse as South Africa Uganda Tanzania and Mauritius Such a comparative perspective enables reasonable judgements to be made about the prospects for institutional take up within the curriculum of century old universities Co-curating the City Clare Melhuish, Henric Benesch, Dean Sully, Ingrid Martins Holmberg, 2022-05-24 Co curating the City explores the role of universities in the construction and mobilisation of heritage discourses in urban development and regeneration processes with a focus on six case study sites University of Gothenburg Sweden UCL East London University of Lund Sweden Roma Tre university Rome American University of Beirut and Federal University of S o Paulo Brazil The aim of the book is to expand the field of critical heritage studies in the urban domain by examining the role of institutional actors both in the construction of urban heritage discourses and in how those discourses influence urban planning decisions or become instrumentalised as mechanisms for urban regeneration It proposes that universities engage in these processes in a number of ways as producers of urban knowledge that is mobilised to intervene in planning processes as producers of heritage practices that are implemented in development contexts in the urban realm and as developers engaged in campus construction projects that both reference heritage discourses as a mechanism for promoting support and approval by planners and the public and capitalise on heritage assets as a resource The book highlights the participatory processes through which universities are positioning themselves as significant institutions in the development of urban heritage narratives The case studies investigate how universities as mixed communities of interest dispersed across buildings and urban sites engage in strategies of engagement with local people and neighbourhoods and ask how this may be contributing to a re shaping of ideas narratives and lived experience of urban heritage in which universities have a distinctive agency The authors cross disciplinary and cultural boundaries and bridge academia and practice A Handbook on Legal Languages and the Quest for Linguistic Equality in South Africa and Beyond Zakeera Docrat, Russell H Kaschula , Monwabisi K Ralarala, 2021-06-02 A Handbook on Legal Languages and the Quest for Linguistic Equality in South Africa and Beyond is an interdisciplinary publication located in the discipline of forensic linguistics language and law This handbook includes varying comparative African and global case studies on the use of language s in courtroom discourse and higher education institutions Kenya Morocco Nigeria Australia Belgium Canada and India These African and global case studies form the backdrop for the critique of the monolingual English language of record policy for South African courts the core of this handbook discussed in relation to case law and the beleaguered legal interpretation profession This handbook argues that linguistic transformation and decolonisation of South Africa s legal and higher education systems needs to be undertaken where legal practitioners are linguistically equipped to litigate in a bilingual multilingual courtroom that enables access to justice for the majority of African language speaking litigants enforcing their constitutional language rights The Routledge Handbook of
