Alternative And Bottom Up Peace Indicators:

Alternative and bottom-up peace indicators Roger Mac Ginty, 2016-04-14 There is widespread dissatisfaction with the current suite of evaluation and monitoring tools available to peacebuilders and those responding to conflict Yet despite this dissatisfaction there are few concrete moves to investigate alternative methods of gauging the success or failure of peace initiatives This volume explores alternative methods of assessing peace These methods tend to be bottom up and people centric and are interested in many aspects of conflict societies that orthodox top down indicators often miss The methods explored in this work chime with the contemporary interest in critical approaches to peace and conflict studies and approaches that are interested in local perspectives The volume also connects with a growing interest in civic epistemology or the co production of data whereby research subjects participate in the research and have a chance of understanding the relevance of research All of the contributors to the volume have significant field experience in conflict affected areas and their work is informed by an engagement with the everyday challenges and opportunities facing people in war zones This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Intervention and Statebuilding

Peace in Political Unsettlement Jan Pospisil, 2018-12-11 International peacebuilding has reached an impasse Its lofty ambitions have resulted in at best middling success punctuated by moments of outright failure The discrediting of the term liberal peacebuilding has seen it evolve to respond to the numerous critiques Notions such as inclusive peace merge the liberal paradigm with critical notions of context and the need to refine practices to take account of the local or complexity However how this would translate into clear guidance for the practice of peacebuilding is unclear Paradoxically contemporary peacebuilding policy has reached an unprecedented level of vagueness Peace in political unsettlement provides an alternative response rooted in a new discourse which aims to speak both to the experience of working in peace process settings It maps a new understanding of peace processes as institutionalising formalised political unsettlement and points out new ways of engaging with it The book points to the ways in which peace processes institutionalise forms of disagreement creating ongoing processes to manage it rather than resolve it It suggests a modest approach of providing hooks to future processes maximising the use of creative non solutions and practices of disrelation are discussed as pathways for pragmatic post war transitions It is only by understanding the nature and techniques of formalised political unsettlement that new constructive ways of engaging with it can be found

Making Geographies of Peace and Conflict Colin Flint, Kara E. Dempsey, 2023-11-17 This book illustrates the diversity of current geographies ontologies engagements and epistemologies of peace and conflict It emphasizes how agencies of peace and conflict occur in geographic settings and how those settings shape processes of peace and conflict The essence of the book's logic is that war and peace are manifestations of the intertwined construction of geographies and politics Indeed peace is never completely distinct from war Each chapter in the book will demonstrate understandings of how the myriad spaces of war and peace are forged by multiple agencies some possibly contradictory The goals of these agents vary as peace and war are relational place specific processes The reader will understand the mutual construction of spaces and processes of peace and conflict through engagement with the concepts of agency the mutual construction of politics and space geographic scales multiple geographies the twin dynamics of empathy othering and inclusivity partitioning and resistance militarism The book discusses the intertwined nature of peace and conflict including reference to the environment global climate change borders technology and postcolonialism This book is valuable for instructors teaching a variety of senior level human geography courses including graduate level classes It will appeal to those working in political geography historical geography sociology of geographic knowledge feminist geography cultural and economic geography political science and international relations
