Abstract Contemporary wedding ritual is a little explored area of both the Christian theology and the English social reality of marriage As persistently important rituals in contemporary England weddings are of great interest in any attempt to describe and account for the place of ritual in contemporary life As events which are simultaneously acts of Christian worship efficacious legal ceremonies and popular cultural rites Anglican weddings bring into focus numerous issues about the inter relation of social and religious institutions and experiences theological responses to contemporary culture material culture and the defining and mapping of personal relationships The central part of the research consists of a close empirical study of weddings in the Church of England This includes semi structured interviews with marrying couples and officiating clergy and observation of weddings and wedding rehearsals This research was conducted within one deanery in West Yorkshire in 2006 and 2007 Theories of ritual including rites of passage and of performance are critically employed to examine the structure and function of wedding ritual and the way in which specifically Christian ritual is incorporated into and informs a more complex ritual whole Narrative an increasingly important interpretative concept in both theology and the social sciences is also employed as an analytical tool to examine both the way individuals make sense of their own experiences and actions In addition to a detailed account of contemporary practice weddings are shown to offer important insights into pastoral and liturgical practice and the ministerial identity of clergy Moreover weddings are revealed as vital events in contemporary social life consolidating and displaying the socially embedded identity of marrying couples
