

(ANNIE, who is 11, runs in with a bucket. She has been up cleaning)

ANNIE: Pipe down, all of ya. Go back to sleep.
(To MOLLY) It's all right, Molly. Annie's here.

MOLLY: It was my Mama, Annie. We was ridin' on the ferryboat. And she was holdin' me up to see all the big ships. And then I couldn't find her no more.

(ANNIE holds a hanky for MOLLY)

ANNIE: Blow. It was only a dream, honey. Now, you gotta go back to sleep. It's after three o'clock.

MOLLY: Annie... read me your note.

ANNIE: Again?

MOLLY: Please?

ANNIE: Sure, Molly.

PEPPER: Here it comes again.

ANNIE: (Takes a crumpled note from her pocket, unfolds it and reads it to MOLLY)
"Please take good care of our little darling. Her name is Annie."

The Cute and the Cool Gary Cross, 2004-04-01 The twentieth century was by any reckoning the age of the child in America Today we pay homage at the altar of childhood heaping endless goods on the young reveling in memories of a more innocent time and finding solace in the softly backlit memories of our earliest years We are the proclamation goes just big kids at heart And accordingly we delight in prolonging and inflating the childhood experiences of our offspring In images of the naughty but nice Buster Brown and the coquettish but sweet Shirley Temple Americans at mid century offered up a fantastic world of treats toys and stories creating a new image of the child as cute Holidays such as Christmas and Halloween became blockbuster affairs vehicles to fuel the bedazzled and wondrous innocence of the adorable child All this Gary Cross illustrates reflected the preoccupations of a more gentle and affluent culture but it also served to liberate adults from their rational and often tedious worlds of work and responsibility But trouble soon entered paradise The cute turned into cool as children following their parental example embraced the gift of fantasy and unrestrained desire to rebel against the saccharine excesses of wondrous innocence in deliberate pursuit of the anti cute Movies comic books and video games beckoned to children with the allures of an often violent sexualized and increasingly harsh worldview Unwitting and resistant accomplices to this commercial transformation of childhood adults sought over and over again in repeated and predictable cycles to rein in these threats in a largely futile jeremiad to preserve the old order Thus the cute child deliberately manufactured and cultivated has ironically fostered a profoundly troubled ambivalence toward youth and child rearing today Expertly weaving his way through the cultural artifacts commercial currents and parenting anxieties of the previous century Gary Cross offers a vibrant and entirely fresh portrait of the forces that have defined American childhood International Guide to Children's Theatre and Educational Theatre Lowell Swortzell,1990 Swortzell has constructed a seminal reference work that chronicles the history current state of artistic achievement and foremost future needs of children s theater in 44 different countries an excellent first resource for diverse forms of research and quite accessible to both undergraduate and graduate students Choice After a visit to the Children s Educational Theatre in New York City the first American theatre intended specifically for children and adolescents Mark Twain declared that children s theatre is one of the very very great inventions of the twentieth century The Guide is designed as a reference book surveying theatre for young people in forty five countries from Australia to Zimbabwe as well as examining some of the provocative paradoxes questions and concerns that plague and inspire children s theatre Arranged in alphabetical order by country the Guide documents the history of the children s theatre movement in each country defines its current state of artistic achievement and projects its foremost needs for the future For each chapter the Guide includes profiles of representative companies Important productions and influential dramatists directors designers performers and pedagogues are also mentioned Artstarts Martha Brady,Patsy T.
