Wurzinger, Ntanganedzeni Mapholi

15 2016 Intake Cut Off Points In Uganda:

Dietary assessment Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-06-11 FAO provides countries with technical support to conduct nutrition assessments in particular to build the evidence base required for countries to achieve commitments made at the Second International Conference on Nutrition ICN2 and under the 2016 2025 UN Decade of Action on Nutrition Such concrete evidence can only derive from precise and valid measures of what people eat and drink There is a wide range of dietary assessment methods available to measure food and nutrient intakes expressed as energy insufficiency diet quality and food patterns etc in diet and nutrition surveys in impact surveys and in monitoring and evaluation Different indicators can be selected according to a study's objectives sample population costs and required precision In low capacity settings a number of other issues should be considered e.g. availability of food composition tables cultural and community specific issues such as intra household distribution of foods and eating from shared plates etc This manual aims to signpost for the users the best way to measure food and nutrient intakes and to enhance their understanding of the key features strengths and limitations of various methods It also highlights a number of common methodological considerations involved in the selection process Target audience comprises of individuals policy makers programme managers educators health professionals including dietitians and nutritionists field workers and researchers involved in national surveys programme planning and monitoring and evaluation in low capacity settings as well as those in charge of knowledge brokering for policy making

Cumulated Index Medicus, 1986 The East African Medical Journal, 1999 Complementary Feeding: Building the Foundations for a Healthy Life R. E. Black, M. Makrides, K. K. Ong, 2017-03-17 The complementary feeding period from 6 to 24 months is a crucial part of the first 1000 days of development It marks the transition from exclusively milk based liquid diet to the family diet and self feeding During this period healthy food preferences and feeding practices are formed The papers in this book were presented at the 87th Nestlé Nutrition Institute Workshop in Singapore May 2016 Divided into three parts they provide updates and recommendations as well as insights into strategies and interventions from all around the world The first part addresses the role of complementary feeding in healthy development focusing on food types and the timing of solid food introduction The second part examines determinants of growth restriction and discusses effective interventions in infants and children in low and middle income countries The last part focuses on development and programming of behavioral and psychological aspects to prevent childhood obesity in high socioeconomic settings

Livestock Genomics and Community-based Breeding Strategies in Low-and-Middle-Income Countries: Challenges, Opportunities and Future Perspectives Isidore Houaga, Maria Wurzinger, Ntanganedzeni Mapholi, 2024-07-17 Low and Middle Income Countries LMICs are home to diverse populations of livestock species adapted to various agro ecological zones production systems and harsh environmental conditions However the livestock in LMICs have not been systematically improved and current low levels of productivity do not meet the demand for livestock products

by a growing population Recent advances in next generation sequencing and genotyping technologies have enabled the application of genomic selection in various livestock species in some western countries with great success Despite the low adoption of genomic breeding in LMICs livestock industry various studies and programs were initiated and some are still ongoing Furthermore community based breeding programs CBBP have been initiated in many LMICs with great benefits for smallholder livestock farmers CBBPs are based on the active participation of farmers from inception through to implementation and consider their needs views decisions breeding objectives and available infrastructure In Africa for instance small ruminants CBBPs have generated substantial genetic gains and socioeconomic benefits for rural poor farmers However the current challenges affecting the data recording and genetic evaluation of the CBBPs in LMICS are yet to be fully reported Furthermore the CBBPs are yet to integrate genomic selection in their breeding strategies For sustainable livestock breeding in LMICs there is a need to assess the current status of livestock genomics and community based breeding strategies to identify the challenges and suggest mitigating strategies and future improvement strategy plans In this Research Topic we aim to collect findings from past and current livestock genomics and community based breeding programs the challenges the lessons learned the opportunities and future perspectives

East Africa's grasses and fodders: Their ecology and husbandry G. Boonman, 2013-03-09 The series Tasks for Vegetation Science is devoted to a variety of research aspects in vegetation science pure as well as applied Of the applied problems one of the most pressing is to achieve better knowledge and improvement of the pasture vegetation in tropical and subtropical regions As series editor I was impressed by the sheer volume of useful scientific information concerning pasture plants from East Africa collected during many years by Dr Boonman and compiled in one manuscript Dr Boonman first came to East Africa in 1963 on an overland journey along the river Nile which took him from Alexandria in Egypt to Lake Victoria in Uganda and Kenya and back again After a brief spell as a cotton agronomist in the Sudan Gezira he joined the grassland research team at Kitale Kenya in 1966 Improvement of seed yield of tropical grasses was his principal interest which finally led him into the field of breeding grasses Well known varieties from his work include Boma Elmba Rhodesgrass as well as Clone 13 Elephantgrass In 1979 he was recalled to The Netherlands to head a cooperative seed company involved in the breeding of grasses and cereals The author has focused this study on one region Eastern Africa Global application of theories runs into conflicts too easily with local types of farming if not with bare economics Very few books can be found that describe existing practices and seek local answers by digging deep in the stacks of old local reports
