Land Use Dynamics and Governance in Sungai Selangor Watershed Jamilah Mohamad, Goh Hong Ching, 2015-11-24 Watersheds have been widely recognized as the best scale at which to govern water At the geographic scale of the watersheds stakeholders are able to make decisions on how to manage water resources in a setting more conducive to participation Through coordinated development and management of water land and related resources economic and social welfare can be optimized without compromising sustainability of vital environmental systems Sungai Selangor is an important water resource for the state of Selangor It is the major contributor in meeting water demand to the Selangor State and Kuala Lumpur Since early days Sungai Selangor has played a central role in the development of settlements in northern Selangor The research described here is an attempt to understand the development forces operating in the Sungai Selangor watershed The approach taken is intentionally multi disciplinary as it attempts to paint a broad brush picture of the current situation within the Sungai Selangor watershed Increasing pressures on land development is a major factor that causes land use conflicts in the watershed Spatial environmental governance should improve collaboration and connections between citizens and decision makers at the watershed scale Many issues within the economic social or environmental realm necessitate an understanding of the spatial context within which such forces operate The book is organized in ten chapters each chapter being devoted towards addressing particular issues considered prevalent or outstanding within the community living within the watershed Although the book has been written in an academic manner it should also appeal to the general public and students in higher education institutions as it relates to topical issues Beginner researchers may find that the discussion of various issues within a location specific context might spark off their interest to begin their own research on particular aspects that appeal to their own area of expertise

Foreign Fighters and Radical Influencers Asya Metodieva, 2022-12-30 This book looks at Salafi influencers and foreign fighters in the Balkans to examine how the origins and dynamics of radical milieus are related to the legacy of the Bosnian War and the Kosovo War The work seeks to understand if and in what ways these wars influenced the consolidation of radical milieus and whether they impacted the recruitment of foreign fighters In doing so the book traces the path of more than 400 individuals that either traveled to Syria or were involved in recruitment locally Employing a qualitative methodological approach the book argues that radical influencers are likely to be more evident in postwar societies due to state and societal fragility which create more power for social actors and constrain efforts to counter extremism Through the activism of social actors emerging from wars preceding conflicts resonate through society across different locations and particular postwar radical milieus do not need to be only in the place where war atrocities happened Thus radical milieus can spread to various locations including countries hosting postwar diaspora communities This book will be of much interest to students of radicalisation terrorism and political violence Balkan politics Middle Eastern politics and IR in general Trauma Informed Care Tamar Rodney, 2025-08-09 This text outlines a practical guide for nurses and healthcare providers to provide care for individuals with varying traumatic histories with an informed perspective Consideration of trauma as an acute experience to one that can develop into a post traumatic stress disorder are explored Additionally the biological behavioral historical and cumulative basis of trauma are discussed as well as the family's role in generational trauma Trauma presents a complex multilayered experience that requires understanding to provide appropriate care Trauma is often viewed as a physical experience with minimal consideration of the emotional and mental health aspects of these experiences The perspective of unseen emotional scars is given descriptive graphic to allow the scars to be visualized and treated The book includes perspectives across the globe from Thailand UK Philippines India Ireland and Caribbean As such this book will fill a gap in the field

Bread and Roses Dee Michell, Jacqueline Z. Wilson, Verity Archer, 2015-06-26 Bread and Roses is an Australian first a collection of stories from academics who identify as coming from working class backgrounds At once inspiring and challenging the collection demonstrates how individual narratives are both personal and structural in that they illustrate the ways in which social forces shape individual lives Central themes in the book are generational changes in university education provision in Australia the complexities of coming from a working class background and being female or coming from a working class background and being female and a recent migrant and the particular challenges facing students and staff from rural and regional areas An essential read for anyone interested in widening participation programs in higher education including administrators academics past and present students Bread and Roses is both a map for those who want to undertake a similar journey and a community for those who want to join

The Palgrave Handbook of Innovative Community and Clinical Psychologies Carl Walker, Sally Zlotowitz, Anna Zoli, 2022-02-01 This handbook highlights a range of ground breaking radical and liberatory clinical and critical community psychology projects from around the world The disciplines of critical community psychology and clinical psychology are currently experiencing radical innovations that in this book are characterised as moving from the individualising practice realm toward an altogether more contextualising orientation Both fields are responding to an array of political social and economic injustices and a global political context Community and clinical psychologists have found themselves reorienting their practice to confront resist and subvert the structures that are so damaging to the lives of the vulnerable people they work with This text posits that these approaches refute and resist the psychologising that has strengthened oppressive structures Such practices are starting to engage in the political character of power knowledge relationships that demand a more action oriented and less clinical psychology praxis and there is a growing interest in and commitment to social justice in the field of mental wellbeing Using examples of scholar activist and practitioner work from around the world this collection explores and documents those practices where the traditional remits of community and clinical psychology have been subverted altered stretched changed and reworked in order to reframe practice around human rights creativity political activism social change space and place systemic violence community transformation resource allocation and radical practices of disruption and direct action Healthy Cities

Evelyn de Leeuw, Jean Simos, 2017-02-16 This forward looking resource recasts the concept of healthy cities as not only a safe pleasant and green built environment but also one that creates and sustains health by addressing social economic and political conditions It describes collaborations between city planning and public health creating a contemporary concept of urban governance a democratically informed process that embraces values like equity Models critiques and global examples illustrate institutional change community input targeted assessment and other means of addressing longstanding sources of urban health challenges In these ambitious pages healthy cities are rooted firmly in the worldwide movement toward balanced and sustainable urbanization developed not to disguise or displace entrenched health and social problems but to encourage and foster solutions Included in the coverage Towards healthy urban governance in the century of the city li Healthy cities emerge Toronto Ottawa Copenhagen The role of policy coalitions in understanding community participation in healthy cities projects Health impact assessment at the local level The logic of method for evaluating healthy cities Plus extended reports on healthy cities and communities in North and Latin America Africa Europe Asia Oceania and the Middle East Healthy Cities will interest and inspire community leaders activists politicians and entrepreneurs working to improve health and well being at the local level as well as public health and urban development scholars and professionals Food for Thought Colleen M. Heflin, Madonna Harrington Meyer, 2025-09-05 While food insecurity among households with children often makes the headlines a quieter issue that receives much less attention is the food insecurity faced by older adults In 2023 over nine percent of Americans age sixty and older were food insecure Without policy intervention that number is only expected to grow as the U S population continues to age In Food for Thought social policy scholar Colleen M Heflin and sociologist Madonna Harrington Meyer illuminate the challenges faced by food insecure older adults Through analysis of national data sets and interviews with lower income older adults Heflin and Harrington Meyer describe why many older adults do not have enough money to afford food and other essentials As a result of chronic economic disadvantage food insecure older adults are often forced to make budget trade offs between food and other expenses In these trade offs food typically ranks below housing and energy costs and competes with other household bills such as medical costs transportation and phone and internet coverage While finances play a large role nonfinancial factors such as poor physical cognitive and mental health access to healthy food and transportation challenges also contribute to food insecurity in old age In the face of these difficulties food insecure older adults may go hungry skip meals or eat unhealthy foods to help make ends meet While

SNAP and community based programs such as food pantries and home delivered meals are intended to help address the issue of food insecurity they are typically inadequate to address the needs of food insecure older adults SNAP has enrollment and maintenance procedures that are particularly difficult for older adults to navigate pays out an insufficient amount of money to cover food costs and varies greatly by state Availability of community programs varies by municipality often lacks nutritious foods that are complementary to health conditions common among older adults and can be difficult to access due to a lack of reliable transportation disability or cost Heflin and Harrington Meyer advocate for addressing all the issues that increase older adults risk of food insecurity not just financial barriers They suggest updating food insecurity screening tools to include these factors increasing SNAP benefits and income support for older adults and other policies to help combat food insecurity in older adults Food for Thought highlights the increasingly important issue of food insecurity in old age and lays bare the overlooked challenges faced by food insecure older adults
