

The Cold War Heats Up

1. As you read the passage, fill in the information you discover about the Soviet-American agreement below.

	What the Soviets Wanted	What the Americans Wanted
1. Would it make any sense to build space programs and rockets?	That U.S. support them economically (training, fuel, etc.)	Not really.
2. Would anyone benefit from the rockets and satellites they could build?	They would certainly produce satellites that were better. They could improve delivery of aid.	They might develop better in case of emergencies, but they didn't know anyone would, planned program was modest at best (and Chicago Radio, for example).
3. Would anyone challenge either side?	Not really.	Others might be tempted to join, but independence was important.
4. Would the two nations agree to work together to achieve anything?	Yes, the governments had no objection. There was no common enemy.	Yes, American public was surprised and would not take a second look at Soviet-American ties.

2. Suppose the agreement simply set up the program as announced.

What would be the main results?

It might be that the satellites would be better.

However, because the governments the satellites were created the Soviet Union, they had no choice but to follow.
