

Section 4: Voter Behavior

- Study the Chart on p. 165 and answer:
- Why did the overall size of the voting population increase dramatically between 1970 & 1972?
- What percentage of the population that was eligible to vote in 2000, cast votes for Pres.?
- What percentage of the population that was eligible to vote in 2000, cast votes for U.S. Rep.?
- Why the difference if both races on the same ballot?
- Look at the percentage of people who cast a vote for U.S. Rep. in the years 1998 & 2000. Why is there such a difference?

Answer To Section 4 Voter Behavior:

Voter Behavior in Economics Perspective Arthur J.H.C. Schram,2012-12-06 In this book voter behavior is analyzed from an economist s point of view The influence of an economy on voter behavior is investigated and this behavior is analyzed in the perspective commonly used by economists Econom etric tools are applied in the analyses The book contains empirical analyses linking demographic variables to voter turnout and party choice using cross section data for the Netherlands Attention is focused on whether turnout and party choice decisions are taken sequentially or simultaneously by voters An empirical test supports the former Using these results behavioral models of party choice and voter turnout are developed Existing econometric analyses of voting behavior are put on a more solid theoretical footing In both models a group perspective is used in line with increased attention for this perspective in economics and political science Empirical applications of the party choice model allow for an estimation of relative preferences for public goods using the revealed preference mechanism provided by voting intention An alternative method for detecting these preferences a new survey design is discussed as well In the turnout model attention is fo cused on the role of civic duty in a group context
