Rury, 2023-10-13 An Age of Accountability highlights the role of test based accountability as a policy framework in American education from 1970 to 2020 For more than half a century the quest to hold schools and educators accountable for academic achievement has relied almost exclusively on standardized assessment The theory of change embedded in almost all test based accountability programs held that assessment with stipulated consequences could lead to major improvements in schools This was accomplished politically by proclaiming lofty goals of attaining universal proficiency and closing achievement gaps which repeatedly failed to materialize But even after very clear disappointments no other policy framework has emerged to challenge its hegemony The American public today has little confidence in institutions to improve the quality of goods and services they provide especially in the public sector As a consequence many Americans continue to believe that accountability remains a vital necessity even if educators and policy scholars disagree FCC Record United States. the Future Metropolis Peter Ekman,2024-11-15 Timing the Future Metropolis an intellectual history of planning urbanism design and social science explores the network of postwar institutions formed amid specters of urban crisis and renewal that set out to envision the future of the American city Peter Ekman focuses on one decisive node in the network the Joint Center for Urban Studies founded in 1959 by scholars at Harvard and MIT Through its sprawling programs of organized research its manifold connections to universities foundations publishers and policymakers and its years of consultation on the planning of a new city in Venezuela Ciudad Guayana the Joint Center became preoccupied with the question of how to conceptualize the urban future as an object of knowledge Timing the Future Metropolis ultimately compels a broader reflection on temporality in urban planning rethinking how we might imagine cities yet to come and the consequences of deciding not to Draft
