The Report: South Africa 2013 Oxford Business Group,2013-09-04 The Rainbow Nation benefits from an internationally competitive private sector which accounts for roughly 70% of GDP and extremely competitive infrastructure its utility sector for example produces just under half of the total power generated on the African continent South Africa represents by far the most developed market in Africa but there are still some structural challenges it is grappling with Government strategies have set a target of increasing labour market participation from 54% in 2010 to 65% by 2030 bringing the number of workers in the formal sector to 25.3m people and lowering unemployment from 25% to 6% While its fiscal space is narrow long term investments in infrastructure education and health are expected to be key to attaining its growth potential Recent years have seen both the public and private sectors look to strengthen regulatory frameworks in mining and industry in some cases like the automotive sector with impressive results

A framework for a green infrastructure planning approach in the Gauteng City-Region Christina Culwick,Kerry Bobbins,Anton Cartwright,Gregg Oelofse,Myles Mander,Stuart Dunsmore,2016-09-01 As the population economy and urban built environment in the Gauteng City Region GCR expand government is increasingly under pressure to provide urban infrastructure to support growth It is increasingly important that this infrastructure is sustainable minimising the negative environmental impacts often associated with traditional forms of urban development Green Infrastructure GI is the interconnected set of natural and man made ecological systems green spaces and other landscape features that provide services and strategic functions in the same way as traditional infrastructure In harnessing the benefits of ecosystem services GI has emerged as a more efficient cost effective and sustainable alternative and sometimes accompanying approach to conventional forms of infrastructure Despite international evidence demonstrating how GI can be used as an alternative to or in tandem with traditional infrastructure the GI approach has so far gained only limited traction in the GCR In 2013 the GCRO published the State of Green Infrastructure in the GCR report The report established the principles that underpin GI used available data to map the extent of GI networks in the region assessed to what extent municipalities were aware of and applying a GI approach and demonstrated a possible way to value GI in local government financial systems The conclusions of the State of Green Infrastructure report were used to guide the next phase of GCRO s research in support of the adoption of GI approach a phase focused on better understanding the opportunities for implementing GI in planning and infrastructure development programmes and on addressing some of the challenges associated with shifts towards this approach A framework for a green infrastructure planning approach in the Gauteng City Region GCRO s fourth Research Report builds on the foundations laid in the State of Green Infrastructure report It assembles expert inputs and reflections from collaborative stakeholder discussions in what was known as the Green Infrastructure CityLab to illustrate important considerations for the development of a GI planning approach in the Gauteng City Region GCR The report is divided into three broad sections Part A introduces the theoretical underpinnings of a GI approach and builds an argument for the importance of incorporating GI into planning and infrastructure development in the GCR Part B presents three pieces written by external experts They consider how GI and ecosystem services can be valued by municipalities and how so called grey green infrastructure design solutions can be implemented in the GCR Part C reflects on the stakeholder engagement process that has been undertaken primarily through the GI CityLab to deepen understanding of how GI can be embedded in municipal practice Based on these research findings this report concludes with a strategy for GCRO s next phase of work in its ongoing Green Assets and Infrastructure Project

The E-Toll Saga Wayne Duvenage, 2015-07-01 The E Toll Saga recounts the journey of Wayne Duvenage from a conscientious corporate CEO into the role of civil activist putting all his energy and resources into fighting the controversial decision by those who sought to implement electronic tolling to finance a major road construction project in Gauteng the economic heartland of southern Africa The Opposition to Urban Tolling Alliance OUTA sprung up from nothing to a highly visible and trusted brand in the not for profit space in a matter of a few months in the process raising over R12 million for litigation and civil action While led by Wayne OUTA s success was driven but a small group of people As events unfolded OUTA s legal challenges transformed into civil action testing the resolve and rationale of government and the South African National Roads Agency Limited SANRAL to continue with the e toll scheme described by many as a disaster for SANRAL and an embarrassment for the South African government The E Toll Saga describes one man s inspiring personal story but it also contains valuable lessons on what makes a civil organisation effective and how to mobilise an active citizenry to work towards positive transformation in South Africa The Grand Scam Rob Rose,2013-11-20 From 2005 to 2009 the heir to one of South Africa s blue blood families Barry Tannenbaum methodically constructed the largest ever con in South African history The Grand Scam exposes details about the brazen greed of the scammers a bank that facilitated the shady dealings rather than alerting the authorities and the naivety of business people who should have known better It goes far beyond the original news stories containing original research and material that for the first time answers the central question of why Barry Tannenbaum the grandson of the founder of one of the country s biggest pharmaceutical firms Adcock Ingram offered investors stratospheric returns of more than 200 per cent a year by investing in the components used to make AIDS drugs It was nothing more than a lie which suckered the country s business elite including the former CEO of Pick n Pay the one time head of the Johannesburg Stock Exchange and the ex boss of OK Bazaars After the bubble popped in June 2009 finance minister Pravin Gordhan announced that hundreds of investors in South Africa Australia and Europe had ploughed more than R12 5 billion into Tannenbaum s scheme based on the empty promise of immense riches Dwarfing the Brett Kebble rip off Fidentia and the Krion pyramid scheme it proved to be the most embarrassing financial disaster in the country s history and it exposed holes in a banking and financial system billed as one of the safest in the world For Tannenbaum s victims the nightmare continued after the scheme collapsed as liquidators tax officials and criminal investigators demanded their pound of flesh But Tannenbaum now at large on Australia s Gold Coast continues to live as if nothing happened working for an Australian insurance company The question that hasn t been answered until now is how did Tannenbaum swindle so many people with such ease And more crucially why did he do it Through extensive interviews with his family friends and numerous investors this book provides the startling answers to those questions For the first time the real motivation that fuelled South Africa s Bernie Madoff is laid bare A composite index of quality of life for the Gauteng city-region: a principal component analysis approach Talita Greyling, The improvement of the quality of life of all South Africans is high on the agenda at national The National Planning Commission 2012 and regional levels of government The Gauteng Planning Commission 2012 and it is therefore important to develop an instrument that can measure this multi dimensional concept The need therefore exists for a composite index of quality of life with the ability to both track the quality of life of people over time and compare it across different demographic and socio economic groups Such a measure could identify those demographic and socio economic groups with low levels of quality of life and also highlight dimensions that need to be prioritised in order to improve the wellbeing of people In South Africa there are a limited number of quality of life indices and measures of wellbeing Indices that measure wellbeing nationally include the Quality of Life Index of Moller and Schlemmer 1983 the Living Standard Measure LSM Index produced by the South African Audience Research Foundation SAARF 2013 the South African Development Index of the South African Institute of Race Relations 2011 and the Everyday Quality of Life Index Higgs 2007 The following indices measure wellbeing at a regional level the Quality of Metropolitan City Life in South Africa Index Naude et al 2009 the Non Economic Quality of Life Index at Sub National Levels Rossouw Naude 2008 and the Quality of Life Index of the Gauteng City Region Observatory GCRO 2011 Although these quality of life indices make distinctive contributions to the study field the focus of these studies is often to measure only objective or subjective quality of life or only economic or non economic quality of life rather than all of the above Furthermore many of the indices use equal weighting which does not necessarily reflect the priorities of the communities

Digital Technologies and the Evolving African Newsroom Hayes Mabweazara, 2016-04-14 African newsrooms are experiencing the disruptive impact of new digital technologies on the way they generate and disseminate news Indeed newsrooms are being forced to adapt in various ways and there are clear dimensions of localized creativity and adaptations by journalists to the digital revolution In the same way the influences of digitization Internet and social media are changing the informational needs of readers including how they engage with news These developments nonetheless remain on the margins of mainstream journalism research very few researchers have sought to qualitatively capture the implications of developments in digital technologies on the routine practices of African journalists especially in their natural habitat the newsroom In this light this edited volume interrogates the changing ecology of newsmaking in Africa in the context of rapid technological changes in newsrooms as well as in the wider social context of news production It brings together six contributions drawn from five countries Egypt Mozambique South Africa Nigeria and Zimbabwe to explore practices challenges and professional normative dilemmas emerging with the adoption and appropriation of new technologies While the studies point to dimensions of localised new technology appropriations as defined by the complex socio political structures in which African journalists operate they are not rigidly confined to Africa They are expressly in dialogue with theoretical observations largely emerging from Western scholarship In this sense the book goes beyond simply mainstreaming African perspectives it engages directly with dominant theoretical observations and offers a point of departure for developing what could loosely be branded as an African digital journalism epistemology This book was originally published as a special issue of Digital Journalism
