Working-Class Utopias Robert M. Fogelson, 2022-10-18 One of the nation s foremost urban historians traces the history of cooperative housing in New York City from the 1920s through the 1970s As World War II ended and Americans turned their attention to problems at home union leaders and other prominent New Yorkers came to believe that cooperative housing would solve the city's century old problem of providing decent housing at a reasonable cost for working class families Working Class Utopias tells the story of this ambitious movement from the construction of the Amalgamated Houses after World War I to the building of Co op City the world's largest housing cooperative four decades later Robert Fogelson brings to life a tumultuous era in the life of New York drawing on a wealth of archival materials such as community newspapers legal records and personal and institutional papers In the early 1950s a consortium of labor unions founded the United Housing Foundation under the visionary leadership of Abraham E Kazan who was supported by Nelson A Rockefeller Robert F Wagner Jr and Robert Moses With the help of the state which provided below market rate mortgages and the city which granted tax abatements Kazan's group built large scale cooperatives in every borough except Staten Island Then came Co op City built in the Bronx in the 1960s as a model for other cities but plagued by unforeseen fiscal problems culminating in the longest and costliest rent strike in American history Co op City survived but the United Housing Foundation did not and neither did the cooperative housing movement Working Class Utopias is essential reading for anyone seeking to understand the housing problem that continues to plague New York and cities across the nation FCC Record United States. Fridson,Fernando Alvarez,2022-04-19 The updated real world guide to interpreting and unpacking GAAP and non GAAP financial statements In Financial Statement Analysis 5th Edition leading investment authority Martin Fridson returns with Fernando Alvarez to provide the analytical framework you need to scrutinize financial statements whether you're evaluating a company's stock price or determining valuations for a merger or acquisition. Rather than taking financial statements at face value, you'll learn practical and straightforward analytical techniques for uncovering the reality behind the numbers. This fully revised and up-to-date 5th Edition offers fresh information that will help you to evaluate financial statements in today's volatile markets and uncertain economy. The declining connection between GAAP earnings and stock prices has introduced a need to discriminate between instructive and misleading non-GAAP alternatives. This book integrates the alternatives and provides guidance on understanding the extent to which non-GAAP reports, particularly from US companies, may be biased. Understanding financial statements is an essential skill for business professionals and investors. Most books on the subject proceed from the questionable premise that companies' objective is to present a true picture of their financial condition. A safer assumption is that they seek to minimize the cost of raising capital by portraying themselves in the most favorable light possible. Financial Statement Analysis teaches readers the tricks that companies use to mislead so readers can more clearly interpret statements. Learn how to read and understand financial statements prepared according to GAAP and non-GAAP standards. Compare CFROI, EVA, Valens, and other non-GAAP methodologies to determine how accurate companies' reports are. Improve your business decision making, stock valuations, or merger and acquisition strategy. Develop the essential skill of quickly and accurately gathering and assessing information from financial statements of all types. Professional analysts, investors, and students will gain valuable knowledge from this updated edition of the popular guide. Filled with real-life examples and expert advice, Financial Statement Analysis 5th Edition will help you interpret and unpack financial statements.

Accounts and Papers Great Britain. Parliament. House of Lords, 1862 International Public Procurement Khi V. Thai, 2016-07-30 Using a comparative framework, this volume presents case studies of issues of public procurement and discusses how procurement professionals and policy makers in different regions are responding to these challenges. This book discusses current issues in public procurement. Over the past few decades, public procurement has had to evolve conceptually and organizationally in the face of unrelenting budget constraints, government downsizing, public demand for increased transparency in public procurement, as well as greater concerns about efficiency, fairness, and equity. Procurement professionals have also had to deal with a changeable climate produced by emerging technology, environmental concerns, and ongoing tension between complex regional trade agreements and national socioeconomic goals. The first section discusses innovation and reforms in public procurement and how practitioners are adapting to and making use of new technologies. The second section addresses the challenges of maintaining transparency, equity, and fairness in public procurement. The final section discusses preferential public procurement and introduces strategies for building sustainable public procurement systems. By combining theory and analysis with evidence from the real world, this book is of equal use to academics, policy makers, and procurement professionals.

Frontiers in the Acquisition of Literacy Claire M. Fletcher-Flinn, 2015-09-28 Learning to read and to spell are two of the most important cultural skills that must be acquired by children and for that matter anyone learning a second language. We are not born with an innate ability to read. A reading system of mental representations that enables us to read must be formed in the brain. Learning to read in alphabetic orthographies is the acquisition of such a system which links mental representations of visual symbols (letters in print words) with pre-existing phonological sound and semantic comprehension cognitive systems for language. Although spelling draws on the same representational knowledge base and is usually correlated with reading, the acquisition processes involved are not quite the same. Spelling requires the sequential production of letters in words and at beginning levels there may not be a full degree of integration of phonology with its representation by the orthography. Reading on the other hand requires only the recognition of a word for pronunciation. Hence spelling is more difficult than reading and learning to spell may necessitate more complete representations or more conscious access to them. The learning processes that children use to acquire such cognitive systems in the brain and whether these same processes are universal across different languages and orthographies are central theoretical questions. Most children learn to read and spell their language at the same time, thus the co-ordination of these two facets of literacy acquisition needs explication as well as the effect of different teaching approaches on acquisition. Lack of progress in either reading and/or spelling is also a major issue of concern for parents and teachers, necessitating a cross-disciplinary approach to the problem encompassing major efforts from researchers in neuroscience, cognitive science, experimental psychology and education. The purpose of this Research Topic is to summarize and review what has been accomplished so far and to further explore these general issues. Contributions from different perspectives are welcomed and could include theoretical, computational and empirical works that focus on the acquisition of literacy, including cross-orthographic research.

Seaforth World Naval Review 2015 Conrad Waters, 2014-11-05 Now in its seventh year, this annual has established an international reputation as an authoritative but affordable summary of all that has happened in the naval world in the previous twelve months. It combines regional surveys with one-off major articles on noteworthy new ships and other important developments. Besides the latest warship projects, it also looks at wider issues of importance to navies such as aviation and electronics and calls on expertise from around the globe to give a balanced picture of what is going on and to interpret its significance. The 2015 edition looks in detail at the French Navy and the Bangladesh and Myanmar navies, while significant ships include the Montford Point class mobile landing platforms, the Samuel Becket offshore patrol vessels and the Skjold class fast attack craft. There are technological reviews dealing with naval aviation by David Hobbs and current mine warfare developments by Norman Friedman, while warship recycling is discussed by Ian Buxton. Intended to make interesting reading as well as providing authoritative reference, there is a strong visual emphasis including specially commissioned drawings and the most up-to-date photographs and artists' impressions. For anyone with an interest in contemporary naval affairs, whether an enthusiast or a defence professional this annual has become required reading Letter from the Secretary of the Treasury, Transmitting His Annual Report on the State of the Finances United States. Department of the Treasury, 1977

Parliamentary Debates India. Parliament. Rajya Sabha, 2014-07 Yasukuni Fundamentalism Mark R.

Mullins, 2021-07-31 Although religious fundamentalism is often thought to be confined to monotheistic religions of the book this study examines the emergence of a fundamentalism rooted in the Shinto tradition and considers its role in shaping postwar Japanese nationalism and politics Over the past half century the Liberal Democratic Party LDP and the National Association of Shrines NAS have been engaged in collaborative efforts to recover or restore what was destroyed by the process of imperialist secularization during the Allied Occupation of Japan Since the disaster years of 1995 and 2011 LDP Diet members and prime ministers have increased their support for a political agenda that aims to revive patriotic education renationalize Yasukuni Shrine and revise the constitution The contested nature of this agenda is evident in the critical responses of religious leaders and public intellectuals and in their efforts to preserve the postwar gains in democratic institutions and prevent the erosion of individual rights This timely treatment critically engages the contemporary debates surrounding secularization in light of postwar developments in Japanese religions and sheds new light on the role religion continues to play in the public sphere The Nation's Capital Brewmaster Mark Elliott Benbow, 2017-10-11 Christian Heurich 1842 1945 was not only Washington D C s most successful brewer he was the world s oldest with 90 years experience He walked across central Europe learning his craft survived a shipboard cholera epidemic recovered from malaria and worked as a roustabout on a Caribbean banana boat all by age 30 Heurich lived most of his life in Washington becoming its largest private landowner and opening the city s largest brewery He won a beer war against his rivals and his beers won medals at World s Fairs He was trapped in Europe while on vacation at the start of both World Wars once sleeping through an air raid and was accused of being a German spy plotting to assassinate Woodrow Wilson A notably odd episode when they began to tear down his old brewery to build the Kennedy Center the wrecking ball bounced off the walls Drawing on family papers and photos the author chronicles Heurich s life and the evolving beer industry before and after Prohibition
