Myth and the Making of History Constance A. Cook, Christopher J. Foster, Susan Blader, 2024-06-01 Myth and the Making of History examines the relationship between myth and history in early China a topic that has been explored by American paleographer and scholar of ancient China Sarah Allan throughout her career Allan has worked at a crucial and sensitive intersection where myth and history collide at the very heart of China's origin story Her work has created an intellectual space in which the disciplines of philosophy history anthropology archeology philology and literature have come together helping to change the way scholars conceive of historical patterns in China's past In Myth and the Making of History eleven senior and emerging scholars from both China and the West respond to the intellectual challenge raised by Allan's theoretical model of analysis of mythologized and historical figures and even dynasties that have intrigued scholars for generations and play a central role in the Chinese historical imagination The book will be of great interest to all scholars and students of China of whatever level and discipline and indeed those concerned with other early civilizations as well

Rewriting Early Chinese Texts Edward L. Shaughnessy, 2006-06-01 Rewriting Early Chinese Texts examines the problems of reconstituting and editing ancient manuscripts that will revise indeed rewrite Chinese history It is now generally recognized that the extensive archaeological discoveries made in China over the last three decades necessitate such a rewriting and will keep an army of scholars busy for years to come However this is by no means the first time China's historical record has needed rewriting In this book author Edward L. Shaughnessy explores the issues involved in editing manuscripts rewriting them both today and in the past The book begins with a discussion of the difficulties encountered by modern archaeologists and paleographers working with manuscripts discovered in ancient tombs The challenges are considerable these texts are usually written in archaic script on bamboo strips and are typically fragmentary and in disarray It is not surprising that their new editions often meet with criticism from other scholars Shaughnessy then moves back in time to consider efforts to reconstitute similar bamboo strip manuscripts found in the late third century in a tomb in Jixian Henan He shows that editors at the time encountered many of the same difficulties faced by modern archaeologists and paleographers and that the first editions produced by a court appointed team of editors quickly prompted criticism from other scholars of the time Shaughnessy concludes with a detailed study of the editing of one of these texts the Bamboo Annals Zhushu jinian arguably the most important manuscript ever discovered in China Showing how at least two different competing editions of this text were produced by different editors and how the differences between them led later scholars to regard the original edition the only one still extant as a forgery Shaughnessy argues for this text's place in the rewriting of early Chinese history
